Two Doctors Urge Health Program For Red Cross.

SAY CHANGES REQUIRED FOR FAMILY LIFE

"More Active and Enlightened Conscience in Regard to Health," Is Needed

Washington (AP)—A thousand delegates to the annual meeting of the American Red Cross today heard two doctors urge upon their organization the undertaking of certain readjustments in American family life and the initiation of a comprehensive campaign to give the nation a "health conscience."

Prof. C. E. A. Winslow, director of the School of Hygiene of Yale University, contended the Red Cross has never had a national health program in the fullest sense. He said there was today an "urgent need for a more active and enlightened conscience in regard to health."

Dr. Ellen Potter, director of the New Jersey division of hospitals and agencies, likewise urged the need of greater physical and mental health. She asserted the "fact that our social order promotes the survival of the fittest, where in larger numbers past the unfit died in larger numbers, makes this problem more acute."

The rapid rise of large urban communities, Dr. Potter said, has given rise to a number of deficiencies in many modern homes, which cannot be corrected by either private or public social agencies working alone. Coordinated with these agencies, however, she declared, the American Red Cross could meet the need.

READJUSTMENT NEEDED

The successful readjustment of family life," Dr. Potter said, "which shall make of parents and their growing children self-dependent, intelligent members of society, is absolutely fundamental to the integrity of democracy."

Professor Winslow, in citing the need for greater physical health, asserted that at present 5,000,000 children apply yearly for admission to American schools, and that on this number 50,000 are tubercular. This number rises to 250,000 by the time this group of children reaches high school age, he said.

Could the total of mental diseases and defects be weighed, he continued, they would be found equivalent to all other types of physical diseases and defects taken together."

"We know that the provision of institutional facilities for care of mental diseases and defects, even today, is approximately equal to the total of hospital beds required for other conditions," he said, "and we know that such facilities are grossly inadequate to meet existing needs."

MENTAL DISEASE CASES

"The cases of mental disease and defects so pronounced as to require institutional care are serious enough. Yet if we could really measure all the effects involved, the burden laid upon society by such conditions as these is far less than that created by the more widely prevalent, though less extreme, deviations from the normal. It is the innumerable minor emotional maladjustments, hampering us all in our daily lives, which constitutes the real burden."

The Yale hygiene director urged that the American Red Cross seek to terminate these conditions, not in the spirit "which fears disease and strives to evade it," but rather in "the spirit of ancient Greece which loves health and pursues it."

Others addressing the second general session of the convention were Thomas W. Gosling, superintendent of school clinics, Ohio, who appealed for the devoting of means to let American youth share further "our social and national aspirations," and Walter Davidson, assistant general manager of the eastern area of the Red Cross, who urged the retention of the Red Cross as a "household word."

BOARD GRANTS THREE BUILDING APPEALS

Three appeals were granted and one was denied at the meeting of the board of appeals at the city hall Monday evening. The appeals of Mrs. Arthur Zwickler to build a residence and of Mrs. Emma Conroy to construct a garage were granted without reservation, and the petition of Herman Hoffmann to build a garage was granted after the plans had been changed. The petition of Ernest Hoepfer to build a two car garage was refused on the grounds that it violates the sidewalk ordinance.

$100,000 LIBEL SUIT STARTED AT ST. LOUIS

St. Louis (AP)—The $100,000 suit for damages brought by J. A. L. Warren, defrocked preacher of Durand, Ill., against the St. Louis Post-Dispatch because of alleged libelous statements in a Sunday magazine article, went to trial in circuit court yesterday. Warren denied the truth of certain statements and two character witnesses testified. The trial is expected to continue several days.

King George Took Throne 20 Years Ago

London (AP)—King George, celebrating the twentieth anniversary of his accession to Britain's throne, left Buckingham palace this morning after the races at Newmarket today and tomorrow. It was the first time his majesty has been to a race meeting since his serious illness of 1925-29. The races he will see include the Newmarket classic with a 2,000 guinea stake.

King George was up early and attended to some state and official business before beginning his trip. He looked over the flood of telegrams and letters of congratulation on the anniversary, and then participated in the only ceremony of the day, presentation of medals to members of his household staff who had been with the royal family for a long time.

Crowds outside Buckingham palace watched the picturesque changing of the guards and heartily cheered the king as he drove through the palace gates to the race meeting. It was said that he would remain at Newmarket for the entire meeting, returning to London Friday.

King George succeeded his father, Edward VII, termed the "peacemaker" while the king was still young. Four years afterward he saw his kingdom and dominions and almost the entire world plunged into the great war. England since the war was experienced one of the most difficult periods of readjustment in its history.

Now, on the twentieth anniversary of his accession the king-emperor and his subjects see on the eastern horizon what to many seems almost the looming of another war. The situation in India has grown steadily worse, and the signs are not yet happy.

The British policeman there has again taken up his battle to preserve order, and maintain the institution of the supercilious—brilliant stroke of the eastern-minded British—which fixes in the person of Britain's ruler the man to whom the princes of India kneel and the savior pays allegiance.

London morning papers editorially comment on the king's devotion to duty, his self-effacement and tact, and the punctilious observance of his position as a constitutional monarch is emphasized.

A special article in the Laborite daily Herald heartily concedes that King George has emerged with distinction from the test of sovereignty and that the monarchy is even more strongly entrenched in the public esteem than when he succeeded to the throne.

LAMONT SEES GOOD OUTLOOK FOR BUSINESS

Over-supply of Commodities Relatively Small at Present Time

Washington (AP)—Persistent weakness of the scale of general commodity prices plus widespread complaint of over-production in many lines, in the opinion of Robert P. Lamont, secretary of commerce, should not be allowed to cloud for business vision.

In his opinion, such an over-supply of commodities as now exists, as compared to demand, is relatively small. Serious as has been its effect on prices—bringing about a fall in the general index ratios that ranges from 6 to 8 per cent since December—he is inclined to regard the surplus as one that may swiftly disappear.

"It is rather remarkable how small a difference is needed between supply and consumption to put a weight on prices, or conversely, to thrust them up," Lamont said. "We used to find in the case of pig iron that a variation of 1 or 2 per cent of supply over demand or the reverse, was more than sufficient to vary prices."

"This spring, approaching the situation in the oil industry, the federal oil conservation board studies convinced the industry that a persisting over-production of gasoline could be made to fit the demand by the comparatively simple expedient of stopping Sunday work in refineries."

SMALL PRODUCTION SWING

"Now in the industrial world generally it seems probable the maximum swing between what we think of as high production and low production is roughly within a limit of 10 per cent up or down from the average. Of course, there isn't any easy way out of a period of over-accumulation of stocks for the industrial world; things simply have to slow down until consumption catches up, as we learned in 1921 and 1922. But there are no such accumulations today of goods on hand as there were then. Prices will not have to break as badly to effect output reduction and they haven't done so."

"From all of our studies, it does not seem that industrial goods have been piled up high enough in any staple line to threaten a protracted period of absorption before they are moved and before production and distribution can be resumed at normal pressure. With a steady increase in population in the country, with a permanent disposition in our people to consume, it does not seem to me a general appearance of over-production of commodities can be long maintained. Any apparent surplus that now exists and is affecting prices, can be taken up rather quickly in the United States by a relatively small shift of conditions."

BYRD EXPECTED IN CANAL ZONE MAY 13

Panama City (AP)—A radiogram from Rear Admiral Byrd today to Admiral Blakely, commandant of the Panama Naval district, announced that the explorer expected to arrive at Balboa, Canal Zone, May 13 aboard the steamship Rangitike, from New Zealand.

The Antarctic explorer, requested cancellation of all entertainments planned in his honor since he desires a period of quiet after his arrival to straighten out the expedition's affairs, work on important scientific data, and rest after many months of arduous effort. Catholics Gather At Tunis For Eucharistic Congress

Carthage, Tunisia (AP)—Catholics from all over the world are assembling at Tunis, 10 miles away, today, for the formal opening of the Eucharistic congress, the main program of which will be held here Thursday and the following three days.

A large American delegation arrived this morning. They gathered here, in a Moslem land, to honor the memory of early Christian martyrs, particularly Saint Augustine, bishop of Hippone. Carthage is a city of ancient ruins, once the citadel of Christianity in the days when it rivalled Rome.

Cardinal Lepicier, papal legate a latere, sent by the pope is bringing the monstrosities containing the sacred host. Six other cardinals, a hundred bishops and thousands of religious and laymen are coming for the five days of religious and inspirational services.

One of the ceremonies will be the dedication, on the site of the old cathedral, of a statue to Saint Augustine, copy of one that stands in Bone, the seaport town to the north which many centuries ago was Hippone and where Saint Augustine died.

Catholic boy scouts of France, under their leader, General Guot de Salins, were here for another ceremony, to fly their banners on the Hill Saint Louis, where died in 1270 the French king Louis IX, Saint Louis, when he led the seventh crusade to lay siege to Tunis.

Well preserved ruins of the early Christian era, when Rome and Carthage struggled to become empire, recalled the trials and the heroism of early Christianity to the tens of thousands of pilgrims. Visualizing the re-emergence of Christianity here, the monastery of the white fathers stands as a symbol of the missionary work initiated more than half a century ago by Cardinal Lavigne, whose monks preceded here the French who established a protectorate over the country in 1881. He had as his dream the restoration of the ancient diocese of Carthage.

CHAIN STORES DO NOT HURT CITIES, U. W. DEAN HOLDS

Tells Jewelers They Will Not Impoverish Communities

Wausau (AP)—The economic theory that chain stores can impoverish a community by driving out independent merchants "has been exploded for hundreds of years," R. E. Ellingwood, assistant dean of the University of Wisconsin extension division, told the Wisconsin Retail Jewelers' association convention here today.

To the question "Will Main Street Become Chain Street?" which he took as the subject for his speech, Dean Ellingwood answered in the negative.

The speaker said that if chain stores do not represent an economically sound system, good both for individuals and the community they will become a very minor factor in the field of distribution. If the chain store is sound and its method of distribution is good, it will live and continue to grow regardless of legislation, propaganda and other methods of protection which may be employed in the interest of the independent retailer, Dean Ellingwood said.

Dean Ellingwood refuted the claim that chain store profits are sent out of the state to be divided among stockholders by citing analyses which showed that only five per cent of the profits go to stockholders.

The theory that the local retailer, a desirable citizen, would be driven out of business by chain stores is ridiculous, according to the dean.

"Chain stores are doing some independent merchants out of business," he said, "but only where the local retailer cannot meet competition. So long as conditions are fair and chain stores are giving good service, no one is going to protect home retailers against this competition."

"Concentration of ownership has taken place in other lines in economic history without a terrible upheaval. It is doubtful whether chain stores have cut the chances of first class men."

"The claim that chain stores do not pay taxes cannot at present be proven. It is certainly open to question. Persons familiar with the retail trade know that merchants allow their stocks to run low at the time tax reports are made. Nobody questions the good business policy or this."

"Another objection made to chain stores is the idea that they do not really save money for the buyer, but that the leaders are merely 'baits' and that the buyer in general, pays more for merchandise in a chain store than he would in an independent store. There are no accurate figures on this subject. It is, however, a general truth that independent merchants give more service than chain stores, and this service must enter cost."

DRY PREFERENCE IS INDICATED ON COLLEGE CAMPUS

Lawrence college students indicated a dry preference in a prohibition poll conducted by the college paper. Of the 317 votes cast, 151 favored retention of the dry law, 133 were for repeal and 460 desired modification of the amendment.

Although the poll represents approximately only half the student body opinion, it is the current comment on the campus that the result is about as expected. This places Lawrence among a very few colleges favoring the dry side of the much balloted question.

SIX CHILDREN AND ONE GRANDCHILD TO SHARE BIG ESTATE

H. J. Verstegen Wills $80,000 to Heirs; Wife Gets Interest of Trust Fund

Three sons, three daughters and a granddaughter will share in the $80,000 estate of Herman J. Verstegen, who died at Little Chute recently, according to the will which was offered in probate court before Judge Fred V. Heinemann Tuesday morning.

The heirs are Otto, Michael and George Verstegen, sons; Isabelle Verstegen, Mrs. Margaret Vanden Brand and Mrs. Lena Verkuilen, daughters; and Miss Alice Jansen, a granddaughter.

By the terms of the will a trust fund of $25,000 is created and is to be placed in the Citizens National bank. Mrs. Verstegen, the widow, is to have the interest on this fund until her death, when it is to be equally divided among the 17 heirs.

The balance of the estate, $55,000, is to be divided equally between the seven heirs. The portions of Miss Jansen and Isabelle Verstegen, however, are to be placed in trust for them until they reach the age of 35. After the death of Mrs. Verstegen the $25,000 trust fund is to be equally divided among the seven heirs. Mr. Verstegen's estate consist of $70,000 in personal property and $10,000 in real estate, according to the preliminary estimate filed in probate court. The widow and Otto and Michael are named.

Spain Acts To Prevent More Riots

Madrid (AP)—The University of Madrid was closed by government order today and heavy police forces patrolled the streets in an effort to prevent further rioting by students favoring establishment of a Spanish republic.

The disorders started last Thursday and were climaxed yesterday by a riot in which one person was killed and at least 35 others were injured. Twenty of the injured were students.

Premier General Damaso Berenguer after an extraordinary session of his cabinet, issued a statement, expressing regret that the disorders had occurred and declaring that whatever steps necessary would be taken to maintain peace.

Officially it was indicated this would not involve arrest of Don Miguel de Unamuno, returned Primo de Rivera exile and rector of the Salamanca university, whose recent republican speech in a downtown theatre precipitated the first fighting. Don Miguel, while urging establishment of a republic, has begged his supporters to be peaceful.

His dislike of violence, was illustrated by an incident in a cafe last night. When Don Miguel entered the restaurant a group of young men began to shout "Viva el rey! Viva el rey!" Others in the restaurant answered "Viva la republica! Viva la republica!" and soon the rival groups were caning each other. Don Miguel fled in his automobile.

Disavowal of the riots has been general. The Association of Catholic students in a statement denied that they had been implicated, and the University Student Federation, which organized De Unamuno's forensics, said that if any of its members took part they would do so without sanction of the federation.

The person killed yesterday was a worker. Two other workers were gravely injured and seven police were among those slightly injured. Commander Mota of the Royal Hussars, said to have been a bystander, was hurt by flying rocks and bricks.

The disturbance occurred when police attempted to break up a student demonstration arranged in protest at police treatment of students and other republicans.

Winners of first and second places in the six district contests held last week at Bear Creek, Shiocton, Kaukauna, Hortonville and Seymour will compete in the eighth annual county contest at Appleton on May 23 in connection with Home Merchant's day, according to announcement today by A. G. Mealing, county superintendent of schools.

Originally it had been planned to permit only winners of first place to enter the county contest. However, under present arrangements, it will be possible to accommodate a larger crowd of boys and girls here and so the decision to allow the winners of both first and second places to enter the final meet was made.

The county contests will be staged at the Wilson junior high school athletic fields this morning at Home Merchant's day.

Medals will be given to winners of first, second and third places in each event. In addition the Appleton Post-Crescent will award four silver loving cups to the winners. A large cup will be given to the rural school making the best record in the athletic events. In addition there will be a smaller cup given to the boy and the girl making the best individual records. Another cup will be given to the winner of the achievement contest, which will be staged at the courthouse the same morning. The contest consists of written examination in spelling, arithmetic, geography, history and other subjects.

COLLECT 64 LOADS OF RUBBISH IN DAY

Five Trucks Put in Operation as Clean-up Week Starts

Sixty-four loads of tin cans, barbed wire, old shoes and worn-out tires, were toted from their winter's lodging to their final resting place in the city dumping grounds by city trucks yesterday, the first day of Clean-up week. The five trucks were equipped with five-foot extensions so the 64 loads represented more rubbish than would usually be contained in that many truck loads.

Tuesday the trucks worked in the Third and Fifth wards, and it is expected they will get to the Fourth ward on Wednesday.

The trucks will make only one trip down each street, and therefore Mayor Goodland Jr., urges that all residents have their receptacles of rubbish parked on the front curb line the day before the trucks are due.

Senate Agrees To Vote Wednesday On Judge Parker

DECIDES NOT TO GO INTO BRIBE STORY

Dill Denies He Told Ashurst of Offer of Federal Judgeship for Vote

Washington—(AP)—The senate today agreed to vote tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. on the nomination of Judge John J. Parker to the supreme court. A story of federal judgeships offered in return for votes for Parker, the senate debated whether to investigate, but decided against it, finally agreeing to vote tomorrow.

After a tense passage of charges and denials between Senators Ashurst of Arizona and Dill of Washington, administration leaders moved to suspend consideration of the nomination of Parker.

Majority Leader Watson asked that the nomination be laid aside while the senate investigated Ashurst's statement that Dill had told him of an offer of a federal judgeship said to have been made to Dill himself by persons unnamed, in return to a vote for Parker.

Ashurst made his statement in the open senate, and Dill immediately replied he had told Ashurst no such thing.

The Arizona senator said Bratton of New Mexico, also had heard Dill say it.

Then Watson moved that the senate investigate. Ashurst replied that all the evidence he had already was before the senate.

Watson's call for an investigation followed an announcement by Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, that he would not vote for confirmation unless the Ashurst assertion were disproved.

Ashurst told the senate today he had been misquoted by the official reporters in the debate yesterday as saying that the judgeship offers were being made "with the consent of Judge Parker."

TORNADOES WRECK NEBRASKA BUILDINGS

Omaha, Neb.—(AP)—Tornadoes, striking central Nebraska points early last night, injured three, killed considerable livestock and wrecked several farm homes and outbuildings.

B. J. Merchant, farmer living near Elgin, Neb., was badly bruised when caught under a mass of debris as the storm wrecked his barn.

Bob Noy of Elgin, suffered a mangled hand when the tornado turned a tractor under which he crawled for safety on and as he held onto a wheel to steady himself.

The third person to be injured was an unidentified farmer near Petersburg, Neb., who was not seriously hurt.

The storm struck first near Juana and Keneaw, west of Hastings, sped on to strike again between Hastings and Grand Island, then near Phillips and then south to near St. Libory before raking the eastern edge of Greeley-co.

Caves, built for just such an emergency proved the havens of many families in escaping the storm's fury.

RUMANIAN DIPLOMAT ROBBED BY BANDITS

Bucharest, Rumania—(AP)—A 15-volunteer shot and wounded last night at the motor car of Charles A. Davila, Rumanian minister to the United States, as he was returning from a visit with Prince Bibescu. No one was injured but the vehicle was damaged.

The minister's car was attacked by six masked bandits on a lonely country road five miles from Bucharest. Beside Mr. Davila the passengers were the Countess Czerniecki, wife of the Polish minister to Rumania, and Charles Dewey, American financial adviser to the Polish government. All three were robbed of their money and jewels.

TWO FORMER OFFICERS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

DENY STORY ILEANA WILL WED HER COUNT

Bucharest, Rumania—(AP)—Authoritative circles denied emphatically today persistent rumors here that Princess Ileana had remained in Egypt after her mother's return home in order to resume her romance with Count von Hohenberg.

There were stories here that she intended to carry out a promise to Count von Hohenberg to marry him and renounce her royal rights. It was said she was returning to Bucharest next week.

Engagement of the royal miss and the German count was broken by the Rumanian court after investigation of incidents in the young man's life prior to his betrothal.

Legality Of Abandonment Vote On School To Be Sought By Little Chute Board Head

The fight over the legality of the election was started by the students.

RETAILERS URGE CITY TO CONTINUE AIDING AIR MAIL

Affirm Cooperative Sales Agreements and Ask Parking Law Be Enforced

Appleton retailers Monday affirmed their mutual agreement on cooperative sales and business principles and voted to continue practices now in effect. The meeting of the merchants was held at the chamber of commerce. The next meeting will be held the first Monday in June.

The group also expressed disappointment in the city's move to discontinue support of the air mail through the valley by discontinuing financial aid to permit mail planes to land at George A. Whiting airport. It was pointed out that discontinuance of the support to the present airport and mail line would probably mean the city would have to have a municipal air port in a few years at added expense.

Ninety minute parking on College avenue was up for discussion and the retailers pledged support to the move started recently by petitioning the city council to have the law enforced. The letter from the retailers to the city council follows:

"At a recent meeting of the Appleton Retailers the 90 minutes parking ordinance on College-ave was discussed.

"The retail merchants believe, now as they did at the time this ordinance was enacted, that 90 minutes parking is advantageous to the merchants and shopping public.

"It has been reported by these men that the ordinance at present is not being enforced, and they have asked that the subject be called to the attention of your honorable body, and urge that proper steps be taken to enforce this regulation."

Winds are shifting in the south and southwest, and showers were reported over most of the midwest during the past 12 hours. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 61 degrees above zero.

Temperatures throughout the state struck new high records Tuesday. In several southern cities the mercury went as high as 85 and 86 degrees above zero.

CHANGE DANCE SCHEDULE

There will be a dance at the Stephensville pavilion Wednesday night instead of at Greenville, as scheduled. The change was made necessary because of the fire at Greenville Monday night.

who have strenuously opposed the abolishment movement. A delegation of students, headed by Gerald Versteegen and J. Schommer, called on District Attorney Stanley A. Staidl Monday afternoon but they learned that he could give them no opinion in the matter because he had no jurisdiction. They returned to Little Chute where they conferred with Dr. Doyle who promised to look into the situation. Other members of the school board are George Veyenberg and Mrs. John G. Jensen.

Dr. Doyle said that the school board has been opposed to the abolishment of the high school ever since the movement started.

It is the contention of the students that the ballots used in the election did not conform with the law and also that the proper legal steps were not taken to bring the special election before the people.

There now are between 30 and 40 pupils in the public high school at Little Chute and majority of these are juniors and seniors. The parochial high school, established by St. John parish, has an enrollment of about 100 students. The parochial school only has two classes, freshmen and sophomores, but next year there will be juniors and the year after there will be seniors. The villagers believe that when all four classes have been established the enrollment at the public school will drop still more.

With the change in the state aid school law the village now receives but $1,000 as against $6,500 formerly. The villagers believed it would be less expensive to pay the tuition of those students at Kaukauna or Appleton schools if they did not care to enter the parochial school, than to maintain the village school.

DAVID HODGINS DIES AT HOME IN HORTONVILLE

County Pioneer and Political Figure Succumbs After Three Weeks Illness

One of Outagamie-co's oldest pioneers, David Hodgins, 80, died about 6:30 Tuesday morning at his home in Hortonville following an illness of three weeks.

Mr. Hodgins was an outstanding figure in state and county politics during most of his life, having served at various times as a member of the county board, president of that body for two years, village president, village trustee and a member of the assembly from the second Outagamie-co district for two terms.

He served for 15 years on the county board after first moving to Hortonville. Later when he moved to Hortonville he was named village trustee and still later village president. During the 15-year term on the county board he was president of that body for two years. In 1909 he was elected to the assembly and he served two terms there. Again in 1921 he was sent to the county board and he served until 1923.

Mr. Hodgins was born in Michigan and at an early age moved to Canada with his parents. Later he returned to the town of Hortonville with his parents and when a young man entered the logging business in partnership with Lewis Steffen and Robert McDurdo. Later he engaged in this business by himself. After leaving this business he purchased a farm in Hortonville and in 1917 he moved to Hortonville where he has lived since.

Survivors include two sons, Douglas and Elmer, both of Hortonville; six grandchildren; and four great grandchildren; one half brother, James Watson of Marinette, and one sister, Mrs. Hattie Brown of Milwaukee.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Thursday afternoon from the home and at 2 o'clock from the Baptist church in the village. Interment will be in the Union cemetery. Plans are being made by county officials to attend the funeral.

EVADING DIRECT REPLIES

The answer "I may have," summarized testimony of E. H. Miller, secretary of the Sheboygan-co Republican committee. Once in a while he changed it to "it may have been" as Prosecutor Wilkie continued questioning intended to show "agency."

"Were there posters for the governor?" Wilkie asked.

"Yes."

"And what else?"

"Leaflets."

CHARGE MAN DID NOT STOP AFTER FATAL ACCIDENT

Milwaukeean Being Tried at Waupaca as Result of Crash Last Fall

Taking of testimony in the case of state of Wisconsin versus Earl Meredith, charged with failing to stop and give assistance after an accident on the highway, began Tuesday morning in circuit court at Waupaca. The case grew out of the death of Frank Penney, Waupaca-co farmer who was struck the night of Sept. 2, 1929, by an automobile driven by Meredith and who died the next day. The accident occurred on highway 10, three miles from Waupaca.

Three witnesses were called to the stand during the morning. Dr. P. J. Christofferson told of being called out on the case and of Penney's death next morning. Arthur Steenbeck, sheriff of Waupaca-co, testified of finding three bullet suits in the ditch after the accident and of being given a handle to a car door picked up by another Milwaukee motorist and turned over to Milwaukee police. Howard Penney, 13 year old grandson of the dead man was the other witness.

Mr. Penney was struck by a car while going after a pall of water and was found lying along side the road with a hole in his head and one knee badly fractured. He was taken to the hospital where he died next day as result of a skull fracture caused by a blow from an instrument which Dr. Christofferson testified, probably was the door handle.

Investigation of the accident revealed three bathing suits in the ditch nearby. The tags showed the suits were made in Milwaukee and the sheriff began his investigation in that city. It then was learned the suits had been sold to a store near where Meredith lived and through the store the purchasers also was found to belong to Meredith's car. He was arrested and brought to Waupaca to be charged with manslaughter. The charge later was changed to failing to stop to give assistance after the accident.

Circuit court of Waupaca-co opened Monday with Judge Byron B. Park presiding and seven cases were disposed of the first day.

Dennis K. Erickson, Scandinavia, was fined $25 and costs amounting to $11.50 and recommendation made his driver's license be revoked for a year, on a second offense of driving while intoxicated. Rudolph Deyer was fined $25.01 for using abusive language, and Dewey Baker, Bowler, charged with attempting to defraud a Clintonville hotel to keep a line of $25 and costs.

George Weber New London, charged with abandonment, was ordered to pay his wife $40 a month for support of herself and children, and Henry Indestad, Waupaca, charged with abandonment and contempt of court was sentenced to Waupaca for two years. The sentence was suspended, however, and he was paroled to the state board of control.

Max Benedict, New London and Arnold Carver, town of Mukda, each paid fines of $100 and costs of $11.41 on charges of snag fishing.

SHERIFF FINDS CAR STOLEN AT MILWAUKEE

An Overland sedan which had been abandoned on Highway 26 about a mile on this side of New London was found Tuesday, following an investigation by Sheriff John Lappen. The car had been stolen at Milwaukee. Sheriff Lappen determined the ownership of the car and the reply indicated that the license had been issued to Mamie Reich, 789 Ninth-st., Milwaukee, and was listed as stolen. Sheriff Lappen notified Milwaukee police Tuesday morning.

Preliminary hearing of the case was set for June 4 and Dubeister furnished $200 bonds. He was arrested on complaint of Peter Dorschner, Dale, who charges that on April 4 Dubeister took tools owned by him and valued at about $50.

Outbreaks Follow In Wake Of Gandhi Arrest

Volunteers also picketed many jute mills but without success.

It was said that 150 out of 800 employees at the iron works failed to turn up.

No Indian newspapers published but posters were pasted in prominent places every hour communicating the latest "facts" in the situation. These posters disseminated the wildest reports, one for instance saying that "Six hundred Europeans were killed at Patna."

Still another report said that Sir Charles Tegart, police commissioner, had been shot dead. These reports proved completely devoid of foundation.

The Howrah low courts were closed this morning, the pleaders being absent. Magistrates, however, were in attendance as usual.

SERIOUS CLASHES

Delihi, India—(AP)—Serious clashes with the police ushered in the second day of the imprisonment of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of India's native campaign of non-violence.

British and Indian cavalry occupied the business districts of Delhi after severe rioting. All business in the city has been suspended. Natives from the surrounding country began to swarm into the city by thousands after daybreak.

Vast crowds began also to make their way to the neighborhood of the prison of hte Mahatma at Yeroda, near Poona, as large forces of troops from the nearby garrison already had been ordered in readiness at that point no serious disorders were anticipated.

A complete cessation of business today accompanied the strike of many thousands Gandhi followers throughout India and colleges were closed and students refused to participate in examinations for the bar which were to have been given at Delhi.

Dispatches from Bombay stated that the workshops of the Great India Peninsula railway at Matunga had to be closed because the employees were prevented from returning to work after the mid-day meal by Gandhi demonstrators.

The people of the village of Aat celebrated the arrest of the Mahatma by proceeding en masse to the shore and collecting salt.

From Navsari the authorities received information of a great public meeting held over yesterday by Mrs. Gandhi and the Mahatma's son Manilal, who told their followers that by arresting Gandhi the government has put them to the test again.

Manilal said that if the faithful discarded their weakness and became firmer in their resolve, India would become free again and the "holy one" would be released. Otherwise their slavery would be further extended by 10 years and they would not be able to see Gandhi again, even if released, he would not want them and would prefer death.

As for themselves, Manilal said, Gandhi's family wanted nothing more than to die in the service of their country.

Calcutta reported that a boycott on foreign cigarettes which had been increasing in popularity among the Indians, is meeting with some success. A prominent tobacco company had discharged 700 employees.

WOMAN KILLED IN CRASH AT KIMBERLY

said his car was moving toward the driveway when the Mersey car passed in front.

Supervisors of the town of Vandenberg who had previously arrived at DeWitt's home, rushed to the aid of the injured persons, and were forced to push the car away from the telephone post to extricate the two women in the back seat. They were immediately taken to St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton, and Mrs. McDonald was pronounced dead on arrival.

District Attorney Stanley Staidl and Undersheriff Edward Lutz directed an investigation into the cause of the accident, questioning the principals and taking photographs of the two cars.

BOY KILLED

Norbert Vandenberg, 17, was instantly killed about 3:30 yesterday afternoon by the discharge of dynamite under a stump on the farm of Arnold Jensen, the boy's uncle, in the town of Maine. The boy's head was blown off.

Vandenberg, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Vandenberg, route 3, Kaukauna, had been working for his uncle for about two weeks but had started to blast stumps only a day or two ago. The farm, while owned by Mr. Jensen, was rented by Jacob Vandenberg.

The boy and Jensen each were working on stumps, three or four rods apart. Both set dynamite and fuses and they had arranged to signal each other when

WILL OPEN BIDS ON COUNTY PROJECTS

Two Road Improvement Jobs Will Be Let Wednesday at Green Bay

Bids on the two major road improvement projects in Outagamie county during the summer will be opened at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at the divisional state highway office at Green Bay, according to Frank Appleton, highway commissioner. Mr. Appleton, with the other members of the county highway committee, will go to Green Bay to be present when the bids are opened.

The two projects on which bids are being taken are: Completion of the gap in the pavement on Highway 55 north of Seymour; and construction of a new section of road between Kaukauna and Freedom and improvement of the balance of that highway. This latter improvement also is on Highway 55 and it entails the construction of about three and a half miles of new pavement from Kaukauna through the town of Vandenberg to the town of Freedom.

The state has provided $45,000 for the first project which includes the construction of a little more than a mile of hard top pavement. A total of $84,000 is provided for the Kaukauna-Freedom project, which is to be entirely of gravel.

UNKNOWN DRIVER HITS FOUR-YEAR-OLD BOY

Delmont, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gassner, Kimberly, was severely injured about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon when he was struck by an unknown driver. The driver stopped after the accident but left again before his name was learned and authorities are investigating. The little boy was struck by the machine as he was crossing the street. He suffered severe cuts and bruises about the chin, forehead and body.

FORMER RESIDENT READS ABOUT TRIP IN TEXAS PAPER

Evidence that the trip which Outagamie county rural school graduates and their teachers and their friends will make to Washington, D. C., next month for graduation exercises, is receiving nationwide notice was given this week when A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, received a letter from Dr. H. R. Tanner, Eastland Texas, congratulating him on the plan. Dr. Tanner, a former resident of Kaukauna, now is secretary of the chamber of commerce at Eastland. He told Mr. Meating that he read a column-length story of the trip in a daily newspaper published at Rising Star, Texas. Mr. Tanner said the notice of the trip was especially interesting to him because of his former association with people in Outagamie county.

Tongking Border Offers France Back Door To China

Washington, D. C. — The Tongking border, where the territory of France in Indo-China touches China proper, is reported to have been the scene of recent clashes between French troops and Chinese communists. The region is the subject of a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"The Chinese-Tongking frontier northeast of Hanoi, capital of Tongking, was looked upon as a new and promising trade door to China by the French colonial leaders who entered Tongking in 1885," says the bulletin—"a back door that it was hoped could be remodeled into a front door. But the region has proved to be economically disappointing."

RAILWAYS ARE PLANNED

"Kwang-Si, the Chinese province that touches Tongking on the northeast, is one of 'poorer provinces' of China. Scientifically, it is a wonderland of hills and valleys, crags and towering mountains, all masked by luxuriant vegetation. But it lacks wealth, and even many of the conditions that promise a development of wealth. Much of the country is rough and rocky; the population is relatively scant, and consists largely of backward and diverse tribes.

"As the French developed their newly acquired region of Tongking, two major railway extensions into China were planned. One was to penetrate northward into Yunnan province, and the other northward into Kwang-Si. The first was built for more than 200 miles into China, to Yunnan city, and has proved a valuable outlet and inlet for trade.

REPUBLICANS HIT BY NEW STOCK BREAK

last week together with a reduction of rediscount rate, both of which were heralded as favorable signs, have now been more or less weakened in their effects by the behavior of security prices.

The truth of course is that the administration is viewing matters in a longer perspective than is the stock market. The government is looking for better conditions in the autumn while the security prices reflect the immediate past or the immediate future.

The theory that the second quarter will be only slightly better than the first quarter, but that the autumn of the year should see an improvement on the first six months and that the last quarter will see a substantial improvement in business, is tenaciously held by government officials not a few of whom admit, however, that the wish is father to the thought and that unless there is a decided improvement in business the country is apt to vote in a Democratic congress as an evidence of discontent.

AFRAID OF VOTERS

Widespread unemployment in a campaign year has always been associated with a negative verdict at the polls against the party in power. President Hoover has had many troubles but none would be as disconcerting as to have the country theoretically vote lack of confidence through election of a Democratic congress.

Notwithstanding the perennial debate as to what a president has to do with the economic ups and downs of a country the administration has been compelled to accept political responsibility for things as they are. This is due partly to the promises of the last campaign and partly to the fact that the president himself took the leadership in the business situation that followed the stock market crash. Confidence prevails that the country will work out of its difficulties toward the end of 1930 and during 1931 but from a political view point it is questionable whether the upswing will come in time to help the administration in congressional elections. If Republicans can hold control and lose only a few seats in November they are confident that by 1932 the business conditions will have righted themselves.

Meanwhile the opposition is making the most of its opportunity and a drive has already begun against the new tariff bill on the ground that if President Hoover signs it the measure will help to increase the cost of living.

HOUSE KILLS DEBENTURE

The house has again yielded to executive pressure and eliminated the senate's export debenture. Indeed, the majority of 231 to 161 against the debenture would seem to indicate that the house had opinions of its own, regardless of the fact that it had been warned in effect that inclusion of the amendment would result in a presidential veto of the tariff measure.

Mr. Hoover is as unalterably opposed to the export debenture as ever. In a letter to Congressman John Q. Tilson, he said he has not changed his mind. He declared that it would eventually depress prices instead of elevate them. The president may not be the most astute politician in the world, but as an authority on economics he has received world recognition. He probably was thought the proposition through more clearly and correctly than those politicians of both the house and senate who press for its acceptance.

We ought to have an honest test of the agricultural relief act as it stands over a sufficient period to demonstrate its value. There is no use to go off on doubtful tangents until we know what can be done under an act which makes it possible to go very far in the organization of the basic farm industries on a cooperative basis. Mr. Hoover's firmness in this instance, along with that of Mr. Coolidge, has doubtless served true national interests. The tariff bill is going to be had enough without putting into it direct subsidies which will have every prospect of causing chronic over-production and ultimately ruinous prices.

ANOTHER REVOLUTION

The industrial revolution caused by the steam engine produced the big city, and has operated ever since to make the big city grow bigger and bigger, without a letup. Now a new industrial revolution is in the offing, with gas and electricity as its mainstays; and it is going to undo the work of the first revolution and disperse the big city all over the landscape again. This, at any rate, is the theory suggested by Dr. Gus Dyer, professor of political economy at Vanderbilt university, as outlined by him in a speech before the Executives' club of Chicago recently.

The last 20 years, says Dr. Dyer, have seen a miracle wrought in America by the new application of gas and electricity to industry. "It has destroyed isolation," he says. "It has brought all America out on the great highways of life. It is taking everything worth seeing and hearing from the cities and carrying it to remote sections. It is destroying the reasons why people should go to the cities to live. Industries are going back to the country and the small town. The cities have the greatest fight they ever had if they are to hold their places under the new order. The small place has advantages for industry that the city can hardly meet. The cities have got to make a readjustment, recognize a new force."

As a prophet, Dr. Dyer may be less than infallible. His prophecy is interesting, just the same. We have been calmly assuming that the present drift of population toward the cities is going to continue indefinitely; what an upset is in prospect if this flow is presently to be reversed! His thesis does not sound unreasonable. A visit to any one of the half dozen largest cities in this land is about enough to convince any unprejudiced observer that a great city, in many ways, is not a very good place to live. Year by year the congestion grows more unbearable, the noise and dirt grow more oppressive, the time that must be spent in the mere process of getting to and from work grows longer and lengths, New York giving indications that it is just a trifle too big for any earthly use. Chicago is beginning to display the same symptoms. And some other cities are not far behind.

After all, why not? We have gone just a little bit too far in our dedication of the big city. The genuine advantages that come from living in a smaller place tend to get overlooked. If Dr. Dyer is right, and a wholesale splitting up of our cities is in prospect, we are in for some enormous, surprising changes. But perhaps we shall be better off, in the long run.

GANDHI'S ARREST

The arrest of Gandhi is the British government's answer to the non-violence resistance undertaken by the Indian leader and his followers. It is a measure of the greatest importance for it immediately precipitates a crisis in the already tragic situation. Much of the western world's sympathy, particularly in this hemisphere, will instinctively go to Gandhi, yet this action is taken by a socialist-labor government in England. The British viewpoint on colonial policy does not change materially regardless of what party is in power.

It is said that Gandhi's followers are thunderstruck over his arrest, yet it was to be expected. He was challenging British rule in a form more insidious and dangerous than by armed insurrection. A civil war the British would easily and quickly put down, but the type of resistance resorted to by Gandhi and his followers presents an exceedingly difficult problem. Its purpose is to bring both political and economic operations to a standstill and to paralyze the government.

The possibility of a compromise seems to have been destroyed by the drastic measure of imprisoning Gandhi. Whether it will provoke an open rebellion and violence no one can say, although if it does it will be playing directly into the hands of the English government. Possibly this was the only way to bring the issue to a conclusion. In a sense western imperialism is at stake in the issue of events in India. Undoubtedly it has received a severe check as a result of the World war, but it is still deeply rooted both in the occidental mind and in large geographical areas. Britain will, of course, not lose India at the present time, but it may be that developments are in the making which will compel a moderation of her policy there and concessions that would temporarily satisfy native aspirations.

SAVING AND GAMBLING

The wide range in the earning capacity of stocks is one of the curious things about the present stock situation. A market reporter points out that while one important common stock, which happens to be oil, is paying only 1.3 per cent on its current valuation, another, which happens to be meat packing, preferred, is paying 12 per cent. In the former case the price reflects and capitalizes vast optimism for the future. In the latter it reflects not necessarily doubt of basic value, but a lack of speculative interest. One price is a gambler's price; the other is an investor's.

Gamblers who are frankly gambling, and have the wherewithal, may play for as high stakes as they like. Those who have no business to be gambling, either for themselves or others, because they cannot afford to lose, should ask their banker's advice. The banker will probably tell them to play safe by putting their money into savings at a sure 4 or 5 per cent, or invest in bonds, mortgages or other sound and conservative securities somewhere around 6 per cent, or buy some of the good real estate bargains now available almost everywhere.

GRADE CROSSING ACCIDENTS

Grade crossing statistics published the other day by the Interstate Commerce Commission indicate an odd situation. The number of accidents at such crossings increased last year, but the number of fatalities decreased. There were 5,975 of these accidents in 1929 as compared with 5,800 in 1928. There were 6,804 persons injured in the 1929 crashes against only 6,666 injured the year before. The deaths, however, decreased from 2,568 in 1928 to 2,485 in 1929.

Does this mean that motorists are becoming tougher, so that they resist death more easily? Or does it have some other explanation? It is better to have fewer deaths from this cause than not, but the ideal development is to have fewer accidents, fewer injuries and fewer deaths.

The population of the British Isles is about 47,000,000.

YAWN-N-N! The thermometer market, unheeding the general market trend, has gone upwards. But, poetically speaking, the mercury in its rising, leaves ambition far behind or something. (The "or something" is not poetic.) The few thoughts we are able to gather together have nothing to do with work. They vaguely murmur something about woods and lakes and sleep. Particularly sleep. (This was written yesterday.)

Al Capone is undoubtedly nursing bruised pride as a result of the latest and most biting Capone insult. It happened, you see, that passengers on an incoming liner mistook the mayor of a New Jersey hamlet for the great Alphonse.

And, while the subject of gangsters and insults is at hand, it may be interesting to note the new record just set in Chicago where police actually saved the innocent victim of a gang "ride" and enabled the first man in history to come back alive from such an experience. The gang technique seems to be losing its finesse.

Talkie Talk

There is the faintest rumor that Harry Richman is Rudolph Valentino's successor, which draws a hearty laugh. Harry, who has sung songs for Mr. George White's Scandals for some years and is now succumbing to the talkies, sings with a slight lisp and has proportions which border on those of a third business man.

Today's Anniversary

ROBESPIERRE'S BIRTH

On May 6, 1758, Maximilien Robespierre, a leader of the French Revolution, was born at Arras.

After gaining distinction as a lawyer, Robespierre was appointed a criminal judge. He resigned shortly afterward rather than pronounce a death penalty. From law he turned to politics and at the age of 31 entered the States-General, a governing body composed of members elected by the nobility, clergy and commons.

Always adopting the radical view, Robespierre gained prominence by pronouncing a discourse in favor of the abolition of the death penalty. Most of his activity was confined to the Jacobin Club, a radical organization, in which he ultimately became the leader. Because of his position there he set about making himself the acknowledged leader also of the people of Paris.

After he was elected the first deputy from Paris in the new national convention, Robespierre was instrumental in causing the execution of King Louis. In 1793, he had executed the chief members of the Girondists, opponents of the Jacobins, because they were not in sympathy with his plans for insurrection. A period of terror followed and thousands of persons were sent to the guillotine.

Finally, a conspiracy was organized against "the tyrant." Robespierre was later called, and he was executed in July, 1794.

THE MEDICAL OLIGARCHY AND THE HICOSTICKNESS.

Seldom do I agree or disagree with so distinguished a colleague in public as Dr. Wm. Mayo, but circumstances constrain me to proclaim that he said something when he told the American Congress of Surgeons that the hospitals in this country are too much given to putting on the Ritz. These were not Dr. Mayo's words, but I give the gist to his remarks. One other observation the distinguished publicist got off his figuratively heavy chest at the same time or at least recently I desire to applaud again. He told the big operators that a hospital training course of two years is sufficient to make good nurses.

Last time I stirred up this important question of the hicostickness in the U. S. A. I made a slight error in this—she said I ever watched which I now wish to correct. I said that I had married one and I'd marry several more of her if it were permissible under the rules. My first wife has been threatening to write to the papers about it, and claims she can prove she was a three-year nurse. Fortunately I hit on a solution of the difficulty—I have assured the lady that she was just as good as any two-year nurse I ever watched work. My present wife approves of this—she says I ought to be kind to the girl who married me when I was the greenest young doctor with perhaps the poorest prospects in seven counties.

The "highbrow hospitals" where they have all the fancy dainties and luxuries, haven't any answer to the charge that they rob the student nurse of a full year of training and vice versa. They keep her in the third year of the training and pay her less than the salary or wage of a self-respecting chambermaid for it. Their only argument in rebuttal is that the public demands highly educated nurses now, and they imply without saying so, that lowbrow doctors like Dr. Mayo and myself fail to appreciate the subtle difference between the nurse who has had two years of training and the nurse who has had three years of it. Speaking up for myself, I don't believe there is any actual difference; maybe the victim of the three-year trick wears a sadder sickroom expression, for she must think often of the good year of expert nursing service she has given the hospital for nothing. Probably a nurse's productive life is twenty years. One year is five per cent of her career, if she is lucky; it is a shame to steal it from her, just to make it possible for the highfalutin hospital to cater to the boot-leger and racketeer demand.

A spokesman for the American College of Surgeons asserts that many patients insist on the "best room in the hospital, even insist on a private bath room which they cannot use, and that hospital attendants spend much time in trying to convince these choosy critics that a special nurse is not necessary, that the regular nursing staff can give the patient every necessary attention, but the newly rich brusquely demand all the trimmings and what can the poor hospital managers do? Thus the Class A hospital, approved and virtually dominated by the American College of Surgeons, becomes a sort of playing field where people with plenty of back not only keep up with the Joneses but make the Joneses take their dust. All this, of course, makes the going bad for the piker middle class.

The middle class has one way of opposing the growth of this evil. Hospitals have either "closed staff" or "open staff": an open staff hospital is available to every reputable physician. People should support open hospitals and leave the "closed staff" institutions to the snobs.

can't believe it. Please say something about this in your column. (N.W.E.)

Answer.—Ho-hum! I've said so many times that the humble-flax-seeds are quite as effective and desirable for the purpose as any poor imitation of flax seeds imported from a romantic place. But people like to have pretty labels 'n' everything.

Ultraviolet Rays.

We all know the value of sunshine, but are so called sun lamps beneficial in cases of — as the company claims? (C. J. F.)

Answer.—There are lamps on the market that deliver a fair amount of the desirable ultraviolet rays, the none that deliver the proportion of these rays that you get in sunlight itself. I should not advise the purchase or use of an ultraviolet apparatus obtained from a pedagogue of the physician, and your doctor will recommend the most economical and efficient lamp if it is desirable to have one in your home.

Tapeworm.

Would it be possible for you to send me information about the Palletier treatment for tapeworm, what it consists of, etc. (A. G.)

Answer.—A medicine called Palletier, obtained from a pedagogue of the physician, has been used as a vermifuge but is much too poisonous and dangerous for a layman to use. In fact, I advise you never to attempt to treat yourself or another for any such intestinal parasite infection. It is dangerous business and the personal supervision of a physician is essential not only for safety but for success. I urge mothers and grandmothers particularly to spare their own or other children any and all alleged worm medicines, unless these are employed under strict medical instructions.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

The sport balloon sailed round and round. Somebody cried, "Look at the ground, it's far, far down below us. Gee, I'd hate to drop from here. As long as this balloon will run around 'till be a lot of fun." Then Scouty said, "Don't worry, 'cause there's not a thing to fear."

"The pilot knows his business, lad, and really, you should be real glad that you were taken on this ride. There's no cause for alarm. As long as we are brave and bold and do exactly as we're told I feel that I can promise you that we'll come to no harm."

"You're right, my boy," the pilot said. "Just look at clouds up over head, instead of looking at the ground. Then you will be all right. 'Till make you dizzy if you glare because of space that, there. And, anyway, the clouds, I think, are quite a pretty sight."

The Tynmites took his advice and found the sky scenes very nice. The pilot then exclaimed, "As long as we are up in air and all the breeze seems blowing right. I'll take you to a thrilling sight. The Berlin Stadium is near. We're heading right for there."

They reached the stadium real quick and then the pilot's clever trick took all of them right down to earth. They jumped out on the ground. "We're in the stadium," cried one. "Oh, this will be a lot of fun." Not far away some German girls, in track suits, soon were found.

"Oh, look," cried Scouty. "It's a race. Come on, let's find a real good place to watch them run." So to the grand stand they all promptly tore. They found a spot with real good view and then, the next thing that they knew, the girls began to race, which made the Tynmites all war.

(The Tynmites see some more interesting sights in the next story.)

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—The world was pulled "Doc" Eaton from his pulpit in a large church on Madison avenue in New York city and caused him at the age of 50 to start on a path that was never to lead back to the cloth.

Now at the age of 62 he is a member of congress—Rep. Charles Aubrey Eaton of the fourth district of New Jersey.

It is a strange story how this mild-mannered, kindly, white-haired man forsook the life of a cleric for that of a public official and politician.

And although he does not seem to be miscast in this present role, one finds it easier to picture him as a minister of the gospel than as a member of congress.

"Doc" Eaton's change in profession was back in 1917. The United States was trying to get troops across the Atlantic to France. Germany was sinking vessels set aside for this purpose faster than shipping yards in this country could build them.

COMMANDEERED

The trouble lay in the fact that the shipping yards were not organized for such an emergency. High wages were being paid workmen, but the output of vessels was far below what it should have been.

High officials of the government and shipbuilders were called into conference. "Doc" Eaton, who had grown up around the shipyards in New England, had previously let it be known that he had a solution to the problem. He was invited to leave his pulpit, attend the conference, and explain his ideas.

When he had concluded his address at the conference, a high official of the navy arose immediately. "In the name of the United States navy," he said, "I commandeer the services of the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton and order him to report for duty at Washington as quickly as possible."

Once in Washington he was made head of the national service section of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet corporation. From November, 1917, to January, 1919, he held this post—working night and day and traveling from one end of the continent to the other to make sure that shipyards operated to their highest degree of efficiency.

NEW PROFESSION

When the war was over "Doc" Eaton found that he had created a new profession—that of industrial relations expert. Large corporations appealed to him to organize their

DON'T CONSIDER HEALTH DISEASE AS INCURABLE

Madison—(P)—Although heart disease takes a heavier toll of life than any other single disease in Wisconsin, the public should not consider incurable, L. W. Hutchcroft, of state board of health said today in a radio address.

"Death from heart disease can often be prevented," he said, "or at least postponed until old age. The patient can enjoy a very comfortable and useful existence under proper supervision."

The boy who used to watch the games through a knot hole now reads the box score.

In 1908 was 95.8 per 100,000 population, the records show, while in 1928 it had increased to 199.4, a rise of 208 per cent in 21 years.

The age group embracing children under 10 years shows a decline, the statistician pointed out, due in part to the better control of communicable diseases and the removal of diseased tonsils.

"Many children as well as adults have heart disease and do not know it," he said. "This shows the need for frequent physical examinations so that any defects will be discovered before great permanent injury takes place."

"The health habits of all children must be carefully supervised to maintain nutrition, secure adequate rest and sleep, limit activities when necessary, and avoid infection. The old notion that children must have the common communicable diseases is responsible for much heart disease. This is a vicious belief and should be abolished."

CONTRACTOR GETS BIG HIGHWAY JOB

Bloomer Construction Co. to Build Road in Green Lake-Co

Contracts for construction of 21.6 miles of concrete pavement across the southern half of Green Lake-Co from Green Lake to Dalton were awarded to the John Bloomer Construction company of this city at a reletting in division highway headquarters at Wisconsin Rapids late last week, it was learned here today.

Bloomer's bid was $425,000 or $8,000 less than the bid of the Morris Martin Construction company. The state is to furnish the cement, costing approximately $75,000, which will bring the cost of the highway to $500,000. It is one of the largest contracts ever awarded to a single contracting firm in the history of the state department.

Bids on the job were originally received on April 3, and the contract was awarded to the Morris Martin company for $459,000 bringing the total price above the $500,000 mark. On April 14, however, Gov. Kohler declared that the bid was excessive and that it would have to be rejected. As a result new bids were asked.

Construction work on the project, which is located on Highway 44, will be started early next week, or 10 days after the signing of the contract.

UNCERTAINTY IS HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR STOCK SLUMP

Some Issues Were Supported Too Strongly in Last Few Months

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York.—(CPA)—is quite natural that Wall Street and its following should now be asking the question as to whether the stock market is again running into conditions similar to those of last October and November. It was the sense of uncertainty surrounding the outlook for those shares promoted extensively in the last few months that once more caused an unsettledness in parts of the list Monday.

An analysis of the conditions of last autumn and those now prevailing shows that the two periods, from speculative standpoint, are not at all comparable. Last September stocks had reached the highest averages in their history. Never before had there been so many people in this country committed to stocks. The nation was stock-mad. About $5,000,000,000 had recently gone into shares of the so-called "investor" trusts. These "trusts" had been promoted with each other in bidding for stocks of all kinds at great inflated prices.

Money was high. The federal reserve discount rate in New York was 6 per cent. Abroad the highest bank rates in years were ruling and foreign lenders had many hundreds of millions of dollars here on call. Brokers' loans were at extraordinary levels.

MONDAY'S FIGURES LOWEST
It is true that the business on the surface seemed to be prospering enough underneath it there were already positive indications that a recession had set in. This had not been shown, however, in earnings or the advance indications of trends at finally were translated into runings. There were disturbances in various parts of the commodity market, but not the general deflation at has since occurred, and which has brought down the average from week to week, until Monday's commodity index showed the lowest figure in a long time.

The present correction in the stock market situation is mainly from the unwise manipulation of stocks that occurred during March and the first half of April, following a low January and February price and the stagnation in trading that took place in those months. This adjustment of stocks to a more reasonable view of business, has already used the loss of 70 per cent. of the average advance in industrial stocks on the high point of the year, and about 60 per cent. in the average advance that has occurred in public utilities. In the case of the rails, the present average is the lowest of the year.

This group was the first to reflect on earnings and has steadily declined for nearly a month.

WIDE CONTRAST
Contrast the two periods it will be found that Monday money rates are the lowest in years while last autumn they were higher; than had been known in this country or the rest of the world since the deflation period of 1921 and 1922. The public is only moderately committed to stocks now; it was "up to its neck" in them last September and in the first part of October. Commodities have been quite thoroughly depressed. There is not the surplus of "investor" trusts in the market that there was and the position of a considerable percentage of these "trusts" is strong. Instead of precarious, as in the earlier stage of the market. If the judgment that in nine months to a year will be required to overcome the effects on business of the speculative orgy of 1929 is correct, about half of this period has elapsed bringing no serious financial or commercial trouble with it.

PARIS TURNS TO HEART INTEREST

Hats and Handbags Are This Shape and Bathing Suits Have Them

BY AILEEN LAMONT
Copyright 1930 by Cons. Press
New York.—They are concentrating a good deal on heart interest in Paris these days. Some of the hats are heart-shaped. Some of the handbags are heart-shaped. Some of the bathing suits are decorated with little, appliqued hearts; possibly because the heart is almost the only item invisible when the suit is worn. And the good, old, womanly bracelet as well as the chain, each decorated with a jeweled heart-shaped locket, is with us again.

Once upon a time, brown and black were an awful combination. Today they are chic together. Of course, it's a purplish brown or a beige brown or a brown so thin that the flesh shows through; as in the gauzy violet brown stockings now worn by black patent leather shoes. Brown hats trimmed with big jet brooches are rich looking, too, provided the brown isn't at all on the drab side.

Spreading as much from London as anywhere, the fad for jeweled bugs and birds on hats is unabated. Ruby-eyed and crystal-winged grasshoppers, emerald and gold humming-birds, onyx and diamond bees—you pay your money and take your choice. Kind of cute, at that.

ESTIMATES DIFFER ON TOTAL AMOUNT OF CASH ON HAND

Bankers Report Plenty Available — Other Side Questions This

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Washington.—Estimates of the amount of money available for business today seem to depend on which side of the bank counter the estimator is on. Treasury officials and bankers in some centers say there is an ample supply of money at a low rate. Merchants, industrialists and others who want money say, "try to get it." The situation seems to impartial critics to show that "extreme caution is being exercised" by both borrowers and lenders.

Treasury officials say the failure of commerce and industry to take advantage of available funds was responsible for the drop in New York federal reserve discount rates to 3 per cent, equalling the low point for all time. Industrialists indicate that when they come to the banks and ask for this cheap money, the bankers are inclined to doubt whether the expansions for which the money is sought are justified under present conditions. Treasury officials say that undoubtedly greater inducements must be offered industry in order that it may move forward briskly.

There is small doubt that money is moving back again into the speculative markets. It is believed here that the recent reaction in stock prices is a result of the unfortunate position in which some of the leading interests, especially the copper mining industry, find themselves technically placed, rather than a reflection of general business conditions.

SEE BARGAIN HUNTERS
Bargain hunters are abroad in both the commodity and stock markets. Purchasers, however, are disinclined to buy unless most advantageous prices are available. It is reported in government circles here that the drop in copper, for instance, was not followed by additional buying by consumers. On the other hand, consumers felt that they could buy copper when they wanted it, in view of the heavy supplies, and buy it at about their own price.

Similar conditions have been manifest in stocks. Some investors have been doing little more than window shopping as yet. As technical positions readjust themselves, real buying may develop. If there is another orgy of speculation, the federal reserve board may again have a the first four months of 1930. This indicates a solid belief in the future of industry. LEGION SUGGESTS THAT ROAD TEAR UP LOOP OF TRACK

Organization Also Would Like to See Location of Depot Changed

Neenah—A resolution suggesting that the Chicago and Northwestern railway company eliminate its loop of tracks through Neenah and Menasha and locate the depot, tracks and yards in a suitable location on the west outskirts of both cities, was adopted Monday evening at a meeting of the James P. Hawley post American Legion at S. A. Cook armory. The resolution reads:

"Whereas, during the past week two groups of school children, one on Columbia-ave going to the First ward school and one going to St. Patrick school on Commercial-st., only by the barest chance and miracle, were served from death at the C. and N. W. crossing, and,

"Whereas, the C. and N. W. coming directly south from Appleton Junction to the west outskirts of Neenah and Menasha, then turns sharply to the east, making a wide loop detour around the business section of Neenah, returning to the west side again before turning south, thus causing a delay on all through trains and involving an enormous expenditure for the upkeep, maintenance and guarding of the many road crossings, and,

"Whereas the advent and general use of motor transportation has obviated the need of a down town depot and railway yards, and,

"Whereas, the C. and N. W. passing within a block of the city of our grade, junior high and St. Patrick schools, is a constant and dangerous hazard to a large majority of our school children who must cross the tracks four times daily, and,

"Whereas, the many downtown crossings particularly the double crossing of our only north and south highway and that of Wisconsin-ave, form a constant danger to traffic which has already resulted in many deaths and accidents, and daily cause an aggregate of hundreds of hours delay to pedestrians and road traffic, and,

"Whereas, a relocation of the C. and N. W. depot, yards and tracks to the west outskirts of the city would remove all but a small part of the necessary switching service across out main highways, abolish the constant danger to so many of our school children and the inconvenience, danger and delay of downtown crossings, and would ultimately result in a net saving to the C. and N. W. R. R. Be it therefore resolved:

"That the James P. Hawley post No. 32, American Legion, Department of Wisconsin, request the post commander to appoint a committee of laymen to conduct the general public, city officials, churches, board of education, manufacturers and merchants, service and civic, patriotic and fraternal organizations with a view of cooperating in the crystallization of the true sentiment of Neenah and Menasha citizens regarding the advisability of requesting the C. and N. W. R. R. to eliminate the loop through the city of Neenah and locating the depot tracks and yards in the suitable location in the west outskirts of Neenah and Menasha."

The post also accepted the invitations to take part in the annual Memorial day activities and also to be present at the dedication of the new gates to Whiting athletic field of Lawrence college on the afternoon of May 31. The gates are a present from Col. F. J. Schneller.

Retirement Law Seen For Employees Of Uncle Sam

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Among those who are not grieving over Calvin Coolidge's assertion that he doesn't want to be president again are the bulk of Uncle Sam's employees. Mr. Coolidge's strange passion for economy, they feel, is a cross that was borne long enough.

Mr. Hoover, he's different. He has to worry about expenses, too, but he believes in giving the boys and girls a break. As a result of this changed attitude in the White House the federal employees anticipate a new retirement law in the near future which will take care of them fairly in the years after old age pushes them out of the government service.

The bill they expect a conference committee to report out and Congress to pass and Mr. Hoover to sign is much more liberal than anything anyone ever dared suggest to Mr. Coolidge.

A RECENT DEVELOPMENT Federal retirement legislation in the United States is comparatively recent. Until 1920, when the first retirement act was passed, old government workers often died at their desks or came to work in wheel chairs. That is, they did if they had kindhearted bureau chiefs who were willing to keep them on the payroll.

The 1920 act fixed maximum retirement annuities at only $720 a year, but it was the first official recognition of the civil retirement principal. The employees were to contribute 2 1/2 per cent of their salaries and the government was supposed to put in an unstipulated amount. But on retirement a $1000 a year worker drew as much as a $600 worker, although he had paid in nowhere near as much. Retirement ages were placed at 70, 65 and 62 years for various groups of employees.

About 16,000 persons are now on the retired list. Three years ago Congress began to appropriate 10 or 20 million dollars a year to make up deficiencies caused by the fact that those retiring hadn't made full contributions. In ten years the employees themselves have contributed about $120,000,000 to the fund.

The government workers felt that the annuities were still too low and that many classes of employees were still outside the retirement provisions; that higher salary employees were discriminated against; and that there should be opportunity for optional retirement at earlier ages as well as a definite commitment as to the government's share.

So far years the National Federation of Employees worked on President Coolidge and found appallingly poor pickings. Cal thought $900 a year was enough for annuity for any federal employee. President William Green of the American Federation of Labor and President Luther Steward of the National Federation of Federal Employees, after prodigious efforts, persuaded him to raise the maximum for a 30-year employee to $1,000. That was achieved in an amendment which also raised the employee contribution from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent of their salaries.

The federation, the postal workers and other federal employee unions then promoted a new retirement act raising the maximum to $1,200, containing the optional provision and more liberal methods of computation of annuities. Coolidge opposed the bill and House leaders tried to stifle it after the Senate had passed it, but eventually the House passed it by unanimous vote just in time last year to let Coolidge give it a pocket veto.

Then Hoover came in and it was recalled that he had been interested in retirement legislation. The postal employees continued to push the bill Coolidge had pocket-vetoed—known as the Dale bill. That passed the Senate. But Chairman Lehigh of the House Civil Service committee presented a more liberal bill supported by the federation. Postal employees and other groups the Lehigh measure, advancing as one reason the likelihood that it was all a trick and proposed with the idea of its passage, Lehigh complained of a "double-crossing liar." Then Hoover let it be known that he favored the Lehigh measure.

The bill obligates the government to pay $30 a year for each year in the employee's term of service, with a $800 maximum. The employee would contribute 3 1/2 per cent of his salary. A dollar a month of that would be deducted to go into the general retirement fund. The balance would go into the individual's account from which an annuity would be computed to add to the basic $30 annuity per year of service.

It passed the House under suspension of the rules and is now in conference. The ultimate measure, based on the Lehigh bill, probably will cost the government about $16,000,000 annually, a total of nearly $37,000,000 a year for retirement.

THE EVERGLADES HAS NEWEST FIELD FOR RAISING SUGAR

erty on Cuban Raw Sugar and Invention of Harvester May Aid Florida

Washington —(P)—The increased activity of congress voted on Cuban raw sugar and the advent of a sugar cane harvester has spurred interest in the southern Everglades of Florida as a potential new "sugar bowl" of the state.

The department of agriculture estimates there are thousands of acres of rich muck soil south of Lake Okechobee adapted to the production of cane. It has been estimated that south Florida can produce 2,000,000 tons of sugar annually, using the cane-resistant P. O. J. varieties common to Louisiana and other southern sugar cane areas.

This county produces only about one percent of the sugar it consumes, only about 23 percent of the cane sugar. Sugar beets supply the remainder. Cuba is the principal contributor of the 5,500,000 tons of cane sugar imported annually and the major producer of domestic products. Incidentally with the senate's proposal for a 2 cents a pound duty on Cuban raw in the pending tariff a new cane harvester has come into use which is expected to reduce the labor costs that long have been the industry in America's disadvantage in competition with cheap labor sugar from foreign countries.

The machine is the invention of J. Muench, an engineer from St. Paul, Minn. In tests it cut 20 tons of cane an hour. The hand harvesting method is a slow and full day to cut two one-half tons. It is estimated the machine will do in a day the work of 150 men. The sugar cane industry has long been seeking a machine that would cut efficiently cut strip top and clean the cane. The Muench machine does all the operation. Muench expects improvements to the capacity of the machine to process an hour and believes it will revolutionize the sugar cane industry.

Beautify Flower Beds By Edging With Plants

Edging of flower beds with low growing plants either furnishing bloom or foliage has become a staple factor in formal gardens. The color of the edging plant is selected with regard to the general color scheme of the large plants forming the chief planting of the bed.

In white sweet alyssum is the standby. There is no better plant for the purpose because of its all season blooming period. Other excellent whites are the annual gypsophila or baby's breath and the dwarf candytufts but their weakness is their short season of bloom. A widely admired planting given much public interest is that of a mixture of lilac and white sweet alyssum either mixing the seed or the two when planting or planting alternating sections of the edging to the two colors.

The lilac character does not develop its full beauty until late summer. Earlier in the season it is rather a delicate tint and not greatly different from the white but in August it begins to deepen and in September it makes a fine color display.

The dwarf lobelias give an edging of solid blue from light to rich dark blue that cannot be beaten. The Swan River daisy is a lighter and airier type of edging. The favorite Rosy Morn petunia is much used for a pink edging although it requires plenty of room.

The Virginia stock is valuable for a narrower and more compact edging but it has a brief blooming season.

son. Dwarf snapdragons give a fine pink edging and the rose tinted dwarf nasturtiums are excellent in the pink range.

Dwarf marigolds and particularly tagetes signata pumila give yellow edgings par excellence. Yellow nasturtiums are useful for the same color.

The lobelia zinnias make a neat little edging plant as could well be desired and with dwarf snapdragons furnish various tones of red. There being few good edging plants in red. Portulaca also furnishes this color although it is rather a straggly plant for a compact edging. There are also the reus of nasturtiums from deep maroon to orange scarlet.

Dwarf ageratum is the main standby for lavender blue and cornflowers beautiful with the pink petunias or snapdragons.

KEITT IS NAMED TO SUCCEED L. R. JONES

Madison — After serving for 21 years as the head of the department of plant pathology at the University of Wisconsin, L. R. Jones, retired from the active chairmanship this June.

George W. Keitt, who for a number of years has aided Mr. Jones in the administration of this work, has been appointed by the regents to assume the executive responsibilities of this field. Mr. Keitt is a graduate of Clemson College, South Carolina, and holds a wide recognition in the field of plant pathology, won distinction by his service during the World war.

The continued calls that are being made on Professor Jones' time to counsel with scientific and governmental organizations has compelled him to ask the regents of the university for release from the duties of chairman.

Mr. Jones is a native of Fond du Lac county and for a period of five years was at the head of the work in plant pathology at the University of Vermont before returning to Wisconsin in 1909.

SAYS DEEDS NEEDED TO COMBAT CHAIN STORES

Wausau —(P)—Deeds, not words are necessary to combat the chain store movement, W. B. Bellack, Col umbus, told the Wisconsin Retail Jewelers association convention here today.

A certain amount of talking is a good thing, Mr. Bellack said, but you cannot put chain stores out by standing out on the street talking against them when your wife and children are inside trading with them. In fact many times the knock out of chain stores is a boost for them.

Mr. Bellack said he believed that chain stores at the present time were enjoying popularity that will not endure. He said the rise and decline of the mail order house and the house to house canvasser is illustrations of cycle through which the chain store is passing.

The speaker urged that the jewelers use the most effective weapons which the chain store has, namely advertising and display.

COMMON COUNCIL PLANS ACTION TO KEEP DOGS QUIET

Dogs in the habit of spending their leisure hours barking in trees and forth over newly mowed lawns playing tag with brother canines or recent seeded lawns and posing the noises in and around piles of garbage in the back yard had better beware after Wednesday night.

With the mayor's telephone ringing constantly all day long, and all citizens being kept awake nights by the complaints of their constituents on this matter of causing dogs the council will consider some drastic action against the freedom of canines at its meeting Wednesday night. There is an existing state quarantine on dogs but few dog owners have taken cognizance of the regulation so the city will be forced to take action.

Simmons' Homers And Philadelphia Takes A.L. Lead

MILWAUKEEAN WITH ATHLETICS HAS HIT 5 CIRCUIT CLOUDS

New York Giants Again Top N. L. as They Beat Pittsburgh Pirates

CONNIE MACK'S Philadelphia Athletics have overcome the spotty play that hampered their early season efforts and vaulted back into the lead in the American league race.

Al Simmons' fifth homer of the season enabled the A's to register their fifth successive victory at the expense of the St. Louis Browns yesterday, 4 to 3 in 12 innings. It was the sheer power rather than the continuity of the champions' batting that beat the Browns. Lefty Grove, A's ace southpaw, was pounded for three runs in the first two innings but Joe Boley hit two home runs and Mack drove in the score by the end of the sixth inning. Five and one-half innings of scoreless baseball followed before Simmons broke up the game. Grove went the route for the A's as did Alvin Crowder for the Browns.

Victims of a vicious batting attack at Boston, the Cleveland Indians fell back into a tie with the Athletics for the league lead. Four Indian pitchers were pounded for 23 hits as the Red Sox won, 18 to 3, and snapped Cleveland's winning streak of six straight.

The Washington Senators suffered their third straight defeat, losing to Detroit 3 to 1, in a tight pitcher's battle between Lloyd Brown and Lefty Hoggsett.

Vernon Gomez, Pacific coast league recruit, gave only five hits as the New York Yankees won their third straight game from the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 1. Willie Kamm's home run in the second inning accounted for the White Sox only run.

In the National league, the New York Giants went back into first place with a 9 to 1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bill Walker was the whole show for the winners. He gave up only six hits, one a homer by George Grantham, and hit for the circuit with the bases filled in the fourth inning.

Cincinnati pounded Burleigh Grimes for six runs in the first five innings and easily beat the Boston Braves, 10 to 6.

St. Louis and Brooklyn had an off day and the Chicago Cubs played only one inning of their game with the Phillies before rain halted hostilities. Incidentally it was the first postponement the Cubs have had since the season opened.

Wolverines Rally and Beat Badgers in Second Game; Sophs Forfeit

The fourth ward Bears with Tommy Ryan doing the pitching won a softball game from the Hi-Y Monday evening in the Older Boy baseball league, 3 and 2. The other game of the evening was a 6 and 5 victory for the Wolverines with the Badgers the losers. A third game between the Tigers and Sophs went to the Tigers when part of the Soph team failed to show up.

Ryan's stellar tossing brought the Bears their victory for the Hi-Y, but two hits, both singles, and six men were retired on strikeouts. He walked none. Burns tossed for the Hi-Y and allowed 11 hits, walked three and fanned three. The two Hi-Y counters came in the seventh and last inning.

A two run rally in the sixth inning which gave them a one run lead enabled the Wolverines to win their game from the Badgers. The game then was tied up in the seventh inning but the Wolverines came back and obtained the extra and winning run.

Priebe and Knoll worked for the Wolves and Lorenz and Steinacher for the Badgers.

Columbus Wins Last Game of Series from Milwaukee, 6 and 3

Chicago — (P) — A quartet of former league pitchers, two of them one time New York Yankees, are setting the hurrying pace in the American association.

Wiley Moore, the sinker-ball expert and Fred Heimach, the ex-Yankees, along with mournful Mike Cuyvers, lute of the Chicago Cubs, and Bryan (Slim) Harris, former Philadelphia Athletic, are at the top of the heap and appear set for performances which may earn the remuneration to the majors.

Moore, with St. Paul, yesterday came up with a four-hit game against Indianapolis, for a 4 to 1 victory. His third of the season. An error by Hopkins, Saint third baseman, deprived Moore of a shut out.

Heimach, the Toledo southpaw, pitched the Mud Hens to their only victory of the series over the champion Kansas City Blues, 9 to 5. Heimach was located for 13 hits, but was good with men on and received great support.

Louisville kept pace with the climbing Columbus senators by shelling four Minneapolis pitchers for 21 hits and a 15 to 2 triumph.

Columbus continued to sail along at a swift clip, taking the final of the series from Milwaukee, 6 to 3.

Genaro Can't Meet Midget Wolgast May 28

BY WILBUR WOOD Copyright 1930

NEW YORK — Because Frankie Genaro has a previous engagement with Frisco Grande in Camden, N. J., on May 16, the flyweight championship bout between Genaro and Midget Wolgast cannot be staged in Madison Square Garden on that date.

The Genaro-Wolgast fracas originally was set for May 23, but when the Chocolate-La Paris bout, booked for May 16, was postponed to May 23, it was decided to use the little fellows on the sixteenth. To go through with that schedule, it would be necessary for Genaro to walk out on the Garden program, and he refuses to do that, just when the fight was to be made.

Charlie Wolf Hero In Vike Track Victory

ACK of the plain news stories that emanated from Ripon college on the Lawrence-Ripon track meet Saturday afternoon and which the Vikings copied, there is a story of crafty maneuvering of athletes, and of a willingness on the part of the boys that everyone likes to write about.

Lawrence upset the dope bucket badly in trimming the Crimson by a score of 70 1-3 to 60 2-3, and thereby became more than a passing threat in state intercollegiate track circles this spring.

But it was the moving of his progress with perfect skill and knowledge that enabled Coach A. C. Denney to crash through with a win. And of course there was Charlie Wolfe's readiness to run an extra event, and the manner in which the members of the Vike relay team of Arthur, Vedder, Fischl and Brusat scampers around the oval to obtain the extra points and victory.

The Crimson and Blue had been battling on almost even terms as the meet was drawing to a close. With the half mile and the relay race still to be run, Denney found his Vikings trailing by 2 2-3 points. In other words it was necessary to win a first and second, eight points, in the half mile and cop the relay or lose the meet by 2-3 of a point.

Denney's thoughts turned first to Wolfe when he thought of the half mile and although Charlie had run a mile and two mile and won both, the Vike mentor took a hunch and asked the youngster if he'd abate the half mile. And being a good co-captain Charlie put his shoes back on and said "yes."

Stepping off at almost sprint pace Wolfe stepped up in front of the runners and setting a steady pace he ambled around the track twice and pulled up in front with five points for Lawrence and with his team mate Ansgore, following in second place. And there the Vikings had that eight points. Ripon was third and won one point.

The relay race followed and again Lawrence had to win. And in that case history repeated itself, for only a few years ago the Vikings had to stage a thrilling relay to cop the state meet on the Ripon field.

Lawrence was trailing by a few feet when the first and second runners finished the round and the baton then was passed to Paul Fischl and he dashed over the cinders passing the wood to Brusat with just a fraction of a second to spare.

The last runner in the relay does not have to stay in the lanes and if he gets to the inside of the track first, the place is his. And it was just that fraction of a second that Fischl picked up that enabled Brusat to slide into the inside lane and dash his distance to a victory.

Lawrence showing in the entire meet was very satisfactory. The weaknesses in the events should easily be remedied and by the time the squad gets into competition against college teams in another two weeks should be ready to compete with any of the Big Four schools.

a Lawrence copped second and third in the 440 and shot Saturday, two events where the team always has lost points. And with a little more work it is even possible the Vikes can improve in the two events. John Cincosky tossed the javelin for a first place, garnering another five points Lawrence usually has lost.

All in all, the Vikes and their mentors feel much better about the track outlook for this spring.

M. U. STADIUM READY FOR NIGHT TRACK MEET

Milwaukee — (P) — Workers today groomed the Marquette university stadium for the first Wisconsin intercollegiate night track meet to be held here Friday night.

Lights are being adjusted to give the stadium and field the intensity of daylight without the glare of sunlight. Night football was held successfully at the Marquette stadium, and coaches anxiously await the outcome of Friday night's track events before stamping night relays with approval or disapproval.

All universities and colleges in Wisconsin have signified they were sending teams to participate in the night carnival.

RALPH PIPER GETS HOLE IN ONE AT MUNICIPAL COURSE

Ralph Piper of the engineering staff of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company joined the hole in one club for golfers late Monday afternoon when he plunked an ace on number eight at Municipal course. Playing with H. Weller, Piper used a mashie on the shot, saw the ball land in the grass this side of the green, bound to the edge of the green and trickle into the cup. It was the first ace ever made on the hole, and the second ever recorded at the municipal course. The hole is about 125 yards long.

JOHN SCHNELLER STARS AS BADGER GRIDDERS BATTLE

Army Beats Navy 20 and 13 in First Practice Game of Spring

MADISON — (P) — The university of Wisconsin is assured of having an offensive football team next fall, if signs displayed yesterday in the first of a two game spring practice training series means anything.

The veteran team, dubbed the "Army," squad defeated the newcomers. The "Navy," 20-13 in a game chock full of offensive drives.

Tury Oman, phlegmatic Minnesota, was the big gun of the Army attack. From full back, he smashed over in the first quarter to score a touchdown. Neil Hayes, veteran of two years ago, added the extra point.

The "Navy" trailed in the second quarter when John Schneller, freshman fullback hope, crashed through from the fifteen yard line. He added the extra point.

In the second half, Hayes intercepted a pass and went 40 yards for a touchdown and added the extra point for placement. The "Navy's" second touchdown came after a pass, Schneller to George Casey, good for 30 yards. Caldwell slipped through three yards for the touchdown. The kick for the extra was missed. Oman made the last touchdown of the game when he slipped off tackle and ran 40 yards. The teams meet again Friday.

CARDS AND DODGERS SET NEW WORLD MARK SUNDAY AFTERNOON

St. Louis — (P) — A modern major league record was broken and a National league record equaled in the second game of Sunday's bargain bill between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers. The new mark was set when the Cards and the Robins went to bat officially 103 times, the Dodgers 52 and the Red Birds 51. The all-time record was made June 9, 1933 when the Boston and Detroit National batted 110 times but the more recent record was 99 times between the New York Giants and the Cincinnati Reds on June 9, 1901.

The National record, which was equaled, was made by the Red Birds employing 22 players, the same as was used by the Phillies against the Cards on Sept. 16, 1926, and by the same club against the Dodgers May 17, 1929.

ORGANIZED GANGS NOW SEEK CONTROL OF LABOR UNIONS

Political Power and More Revenue Is What They Are After

Political power and hungry for revenue, highly organized gangs now casting a covetous eye on labor unions. As agents busy in some Chicago labor fields testing out the possibility of expansion. What is involved in this new racket is shown in the following dispatch.

Talks To Parents

IN BAD
BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

Eight-year-old Jack seems to be down on his luck. He is in bad with everybody.

He fights with all the children in the neighborhood and is in dark disrepute with all their mothers. Even his own mother can't find a good word to say for him.

He has, apparently, not a virtue to his name. He is contrary, stubborn, pugnacious, with a tendency to pick upon smaller children and through it all, very sorry for himself. He says that nobody likes him and that he never has any fun.

Jack has been subjected on all hands to a variegated course of bribery, punishment, and ostracism.

He is considered by everyone, children and adults, at home and abroad, as an affliction and a nuisance which, since it can't be cured, must be endured.

Certainly there is no hope for him as long as the general attitude towards him remains what it is.

The child who is in bad with everyone is likely to deserve his evil reputation until someone makes an effort to like him and to bring out the good in him by finding socially approved outlets for his unfortunately disposed energies.

Children such as Jack need consistent, unemotional but essentially friendly handling at home and supervised play when they are not in school. The mother of such a child can frequently gain a new lease on her patience by giving him a membership in some local boy's club.

The outdoor activities, the skilled leadership which is found in such a group and above all, the fact that he has a fresh start with no old prejudices against him frequently work in him a change which nothing else could accomplish.

New York—Two young men who chose religious subjects in a prize contest in art have won $8,000 each. Salvatore de Malo of New Haven, one of 13 children, who paid his way through Yale by playing a cornet, has won the prix de Rome in painting with a portrayal of the body of Christ lowered from the cross. William Marks Simpson, Jr., of Norfolk has won the prize for sculpture with a statue of Saint Francis of Assisi.

Arch supports with a saw edge intended to cut bars of the jail were recently taken from a prisoner at Beaumont, Tex.

Register Of Copyrights Is Native Of Manitowoc

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Wash. Corps.

Washington—For a third of a century, a native of Manitowoc, Wis., headed Uncle Sam's work for protecting the rights of authors and composers to their work. In that time he became a world authority on copyrights and his work gave the United States copyright office world-wide distinction.

Thorvald Solberg, register of copyrights in the Library of Congress, was retired the other day at his own request. As he is abroad, his associates could not do him the honor they would have liked to do on his retirement.

Solberg was born in Manitowoc on April 22, 1852, and retired from his work 78 years later, after nearly 33 years as register of copyrights. He is the son of Charles and Mary Larson Solberg, who were natives of Norway. He first became associated with the Library of Congress in 1876 and remained on the staff until 1889 when he took a position with a Boston publisher. He returned to the library as register of copyrights in 1897.

He expanded the work of the copyright office greatly and was acquainted with many eminent men and women in the field of letters and music.

Mr. Solberg led in bringing about the international copyright agreement. He attended several international congresses on copyrights, including one in Paris in 1900, in Berlin in 1908 and Luxembourg in 1910 as official delegate of the United States.

Mr. Solberg's books and other published works form what is said to be the most complete history of the subject of copyrights in existence. He has also written extensively on other topics for American and foreign journals.

He is a member of the American Copyright league, the International Literary and Artistic association and the Cosmos club in Washington, to which many statesmen, authors and scientists throughout the country belong.

During his service as register of copyrights, Mr. Solberg saw many new problems regarding the protection of an author's or composer's rights arise. For example, the movies the phonograph and the radio, all bringing up entirely new problems of copyrights, were invented during his period of service to his government and to the creative artists of this country. The law had to be amended to take care of these matters and Mr. Solberg was always the authority on how it should be done.

The latest copyright question to come before Congress is the question of how to protect designers of dresses and fabrics from the "pirating" of less inventive designers. This question has not yet been settled by Congress.

20% MORE HEAT

Steel-riveted Lennox Torrid Zone Furnace Has Extra Large Radiator—And It's Gas-tight

Many home owners report a yearly saving of from $30 to $50 in fuel since buying a Torrid Zone Warm Air Furnace. The special oil-burning model saves even more, and is recommended by all oil burner manufacturers.

Design as much as construction is responsible for this economy. The steel plate, which is hot-riveted and cold-calked to prevent leaking of gas, smoke, or dust, conducts heat more quickly than cast iron and is more durable. But it is the efficient design of the fire-pot and radiator which gets more heat from fuel.

The deep fire-pot insures better combustion. The oversized radiator makes the gases and smoke escaping from the fire-pot travel from 15 to 20 feet before going up the chimney—squeezing from them every last possible bit of heat.

There are seventy-nine different Torrid Zone types and sizes for heating every different type and size of building—and they burn and save hard coal, soft coal, coke, lignite, wood, gas or oil. Made by the Lennox Furnace Company, Syracuse, N. Y.—Marshalltown, Iowa—Toronto, Canada.

INITIAL CASE OF RADIO PIRACY IS BROUGHT TO COURT

Man in St. Louis Rebroad- cast Other Programs. U. S. Charges

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press

Washington—(CPA)—Radio piracy or the pilfering of programs of another broadcasting station and rebroadcasting them without permission or credit, is to get its first day in court.

In St. Louis an unlicensed station charged with having rebroadcast the programs of such stations as W.L.W. at Cincinnati, WENR, Chicago, and KMOX and KWK, both of St. Louis, has been hauled in court for alleged violation of various provisions of the radio law. Besides the actual counts of violating the law, it is alleged the station played havoc with reception of other stations.

George W. Fellowes of St. Louis, who is understood to be a British subject, is under indictment by the grand jury for his alleged wayward activities. His case was to be tried Tuesday before the United States district court at St. Louis.

The specific charges are that Fellowes operated the station, with the call letters W3NR, which were not assigned to him as the law requires without a license from the federal radio commission, and without a radio operator's license, as well as with having pirated programs and rebroadcast them.

Any violation of the piracy law carries a fine of $5,000 or five years imprisonment or both.

If it is ascertained that Fellowes would preclude his operating a station. The law specifically provides that no foreign subject may own or operate radio facilities.

First complaint against the out-law station was made in October, 1929. In December the investigation was begun at the request of the at-

with the department of justice proceeding.

The case is the first involving radio piracy to come before the courts, and the first since the radio law was enacted in 1927 having to do with operation of an unlicensed station.

Fellowes was indicted last February, after an investigation by W. D. Hays, radio supervisor at Chicago, William J. McDonnell, assistant radio inspector at Kansas City, of Mr. Hays' staff, and operatives of the department of justice. Employing extraordinary sleuthing methods, McDonnell really trapped Fellowes, who is now in St. Louis, according to Mr. Hays, who now is in Washington.

DIDN'T HAVE LICENSE

AWARD CONTRACT FOR STANDPIPE PAINT JOB

The contract for painting the water commission's standpipe on N. Walnut st. was awarded to John Croil at a recent meeting of the commission, according to Arthur Dimick, assistant secretary. Croil submitted the low bid of $355.

The commission also decided to replace three quarter inch galvanized pipe with a six inch man on W. Washington-st. between Richmond and Story streets, according to Mr. Dimick. Trench filling was left to the street department with orders to do so where the conditions warrant the extra expense involved.

torney general's office, and Fellowes subsequently was arrested on a search and seizure warrant, and held for the grand jury.

According to inspector McDonnell's report, Fellowes would rebroadcast programs of big stations, and switch them off just when the call letter announcements were to be made. He would then "break in" himself to make the announcement of his station, it is alleged, or some foreign station from which he would declare the program had originated.

Inspector McDonnell reported also that Fellowes would ask listeners to call him on the phone, and he would put their voices "on the air." McDonnell addressed the department of justice agents by this method to gain evidence.

Mann had parked his car on Main street, directly across from a store owned by Elmer Falck. Suddenly Falck discovered the strangers, who had been loitering around the village for several hours, speeding away in Mann's car. He immediately notified Main and the latter jumped into a truck and pursued the thieves.

He overtook them about three miles north of Hortonville on the New London road, passed them, and then, blocking the highway. The thieves, who were forced to stop, sprang out of the car and ran across the fields into a nearby woods. Friends of Mann helped him search the woods for several hours, but no trace of the thieves could be found.

Redd "died" for the first time. That time it was in Memphis, from the scarlet fever, and just as they were ready to throw dirt over his casket, he rose up and asked what it was all about. He went back to the Confederate army to serve under Lee until the war ended. Three years ago his second "death" occurred. His horse reared and threw him off with such force that he was thought dead. Just as they were ready to put him in the coffin, Redd rose and remarked: "Have I a hole in my sock? I see! he laid away that way."

Grows Heavy Alfalfa Crop On Top Of Mosquito Hill

BY W. F. WINSEY
New London—A crown of five acres of second year alfalfa adorning the top of Mosquito hill this summer will prove to the timothy hay growers of Outagamie-co that Elwood Brewer has found out the value of alfalfa hay for cows and other farm animals and how to grow the crop successfully even under handicap of high elevation. Five acres or more on light sandy soil at the base of the hill will prove to those timothy growers that Mr. Brewer has found out how to raise alfalfa on any kind of soil provided the field is well drained.

His method is so simple that anyone can understand it. In the first place, he selects seed of alfalfa that will stand the winters in this part of Wisconsin. Before sowing the seed, with a nurse crop he dresses the soil with manure. He makes a seed bed as level as a floor so that all the alfalfa seed is planted at the same depth and may germinate and reach the surface in the form of thrifty plants. He never pastures his alfalfa, and cuts only two crops a season. After the second cutting he top dresses the field again if he wants to carry the stand through the winter. Good seed, planting at uniform depth, and adequate feeding, are what crops of alfalfa require.

Because it requires hard work to haul manure to the crest of Mosquito Hill and the work of hauling phosphate is much lighter, Mr. Brewer will apply phosphate to his alfalfa on the hill after the second cutting the coming summer at the rate of 200 pounds per acre. Before applying the phosphate, however, he will have the soil tested to find out whether it is deficient in phosphorus and also in lime. Soil testing will prevent him from making mistakes and incurring unnecessary expense. Although Mr. Brewer has fed no grain ration to his cows the past winter on account of the low price of milk, his cows have kept up the usual milk production and are in splendid condition as a result of getting all the alfalfa hay they could manage and the best of corn silage. He knows that rice, green alfalfa leaves are filled with the equal of bran and that cows having all such green leaves three times daily they can do no more for their owner to trade his milk checks for bran.

Besides growing all the alfalfa his cattle can consume, and having a slick looking herd of cattle, Mr. Brewer has lately completed a very comfortable stable, well lighted, well drained, and well equipped. The walls are painted white. Perfect working concrete gutters, individual drinking cups and salt basins, steel stanchions, and carriers, are parts of his complete stable equipment. Mrs. Brewer has wintered 100 White Rock pullets that gave her a sixty per cent production. Her coop is a model of cleanliness even to the litter on the floor which is often changed. Mrs. Brewer expects to remodel her coop to the extent of adding a straw loft and better windows to improve ventilation and to preserve uniform temperature. She will be guided in her improvements by the suggestions of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

Mrs. Brewer has a bunch of 204 White Rock chickens, four weeks old that are very healthy and plump. She has lost only four of the number since ordered.

FILM COLONY BUYS DESERT LOTS OUT AT PALM SPRINGS

Build Palatial Weekend Homes in Desert at Foot of Mountain

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press Hollywood, Calif. —(CFA)—Whether it's a subconscious urge for the effect of color in the movies, a considerable slice of the talkie colony is buying up wads of the desert roundabout Palm Springs and building weekend homes thereon. It is more or less silent in the desert. It is always full of color, local and natural. Moreover, to have a weekend hut in the desert is the fashionable thing to do.

One of these picturesque huts, not to cost over $100,000 by the time swimming pool and tennis courts are installed, is planned by Al Johnson, the latest addition to the oasis group. He has bought three lots in the foothills, on which he intends starting his home immediately so that by next October it will be ready. Close to his place is a huge estate owned by George Bancroft, who, for weeks has been recuperating there after an illness of which laryngitis is a part. Not far away is a lot recently purchased by Janet Gaynor, who intends to build an adobe mansion this summer.

It is, of course, the desert de luxe. There is one paved main street, with a couple of drug stores where you can watch flicker favorites slip their sodas. There's a beauty shop, where sun-burn and sand can be eradicated. There is a handful of the ultra in hotels, containing stock brokers' offices with ticker tapes, so that you can lose what have you in Wall Street in perfect comfort, or plunge enough to make your hotel bill, as the case may be.

THEATRE THERE NOW

Hercules, however, there has been nothing to do in the evening except stumble down the dark main street to the drug store or screech at a gila monster scuttling across the glare of motor headlights. It was largely a movie colony, with no movies. But Ken Maynard, hero of dazed westerns, has snatched himself a lot on the chief thoroughfare and is building a movie theatre, with sound equipment and everything, by a simple turn of the wrist. It becomes a theatre for stage productions also.

Artists, writers, and more millionaires have likewise joined this exodus back to nature, 100 miles from Hollywood. King G. Gillette already has a magnificent foothill home, with a garden so full of cacti that it could be in a museum. Three hundred yards away is using the Spanish house of Victor B. Kline, the writer. Mrs. Alister MacKenzie, of Santa Barbara, has bought a long slice, too. And the price of a good sized lot on Main-st. is now around $12,000.

Before you know it, in short, the unpopulated township of an oasis is going to be a metropolis. Many, including women, has fled to the desert to get away from it all, and brought most of it along. But the San Jacinto mountains still stand, snow capped and austere, behind the tumbled foothills; the hot springs still spring from rich mud; the Indians have not yet donned tinocoats; and, at that, it's rather nice to go back from the great, silent spaces to an up-to-date cold shower.

STAGE TOTS SCHOOL

New York—You've no doubt wondered when these infant stage stars get an opportunity to go to school. High up in one of New York's skyscrapers is a school devoted solely to the education of these children. Here the boys and girls who caper on the stage for money learn their three "R's" in the Professional Children's school. All classes are arranged to coincide with appearances on the stage. The grades run from first to high school.

EXPERT DISCUSSES CAUSES OF BLOOD FOUND IN MILK

State University Man Tells How to Avoid This Contamination

BY DR. A. S. ALEXANDER
State College of Agriculture
Every conscientious, up-to-date dairymen tries his best to safeguard the milk of his cows against contamination, that it may be pure and acceptable to the consumer, and safe for calf feeding. When blood is seen in milk at the time of extraction, or forms in clots in bottles, cans, setting pans, or the separator bowl, the dairymen naturally is much concerned and at once tries to trace the trouble to its source.

The most common cause, as he doubtless is aware, is rupture of minute blood vessels in the udder, from extreme pressure or congestion of blood just after calving. Bloody serum or blood often is found in the tremendously congested udder just before birth of a calf, so it is not strange that this condition sometimes persists for days or weeks after calving.

When first milk is bloody, protein-rich ration should be withheld. Light laxative feed allowed, and milking done three times daily. In addition, it is well to give the heifer or cow a dose of Epsom salts in warm water to loosen her bowels. For this purpose 5 to 16 ounces of salts is usually sufficient and may follow the laxative with half ounce doses of saltpeter (nitrate of potash) dissolved in the drinking water once or twice daily. Local treatment consists in bathing the udder frequently with hot water containing an ounce of Epsom salt to the quart.

Profuse bleeding into the milk vessels of the udder often follows a severe blow, kick or other injury and requires different treatment from that given in cases of congestion at calving time. Cold application may give the better results. A mixture of equal parts of cold water and vinegar may be applied three times daily and, if that does not suffice, cold water containing a tablespoonful of powdered alum to the quart may be used. At the same time the cow, if not advanced in pregnancy, should be given one teaspoonful of dried sulphur of iron and three of table salt daily, in her feed. This dose may later be given night and morning, if that is found necessary. If the cow is pregnant, it is safer to slightly acidulate her drinking water with dilute sulphuric acid.

In many instances, the cause of clots of blood in set milk, or of pure blood coming from a teat at the end of the milking process, is the presence of growths within the opening of the teat, or higher up inside the teat duct. In some cases bloody milk is noticeable at milking time, so that the quarter to blame may be determined, but where small clots of blood are deposited from milk in the setting pans, or are found in the separator bowl, it may be necessary to set a sample of milk from each test of the suspected cow to determine which quarter is affected. Growths in the opening of the teat may be removed by operation, but that cannot so perfectly or safely be done as regards those higher up in the duct. These possibly may be removed by cutting through the wall of the teat when the cow is dry, but when the cow is full of milk and much blood comes from growth irritated by the act of milking, it may be best to allow a calf to nurse or "dry off" the milk secretion in the affected quarter. All operations should be performed by a qualified veterinarian.

It occasionally happens that red discoloration of set milk, thought to be due to bleeding, really is caused by the growth of a germ known as Bacillus prodigiosus, present in the milk vessels. This micro-organism must be done away with, by more careful sterilization of all milk utensils, using pure washing and cooling water, and maintaining sanitary conditions in stables, and all milk handling places.

It is fashionable now for girls in Hollywood to smoke big cigars. Judging from the diction of some of the talkie actresses it would seem they also go in for chewing tobacco.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing a cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting booklet "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

DON'T CROWD CORN CROP WITH OTHER PLANTS IN ROWS

Practice Is Detrimental to Both, Farm Writer Points Out

BY W. F. WINSEY
Weeds and corn do not do well growing together in the same row, especially the corn and any other plant growing in a row with corn. It is a weed whether it is self-seeded as quack grass or planted by the owner as beets, turnips or soybeans, and sunflowers. Noxious weeds, however, such as mustard, sow thistles, Canada thistles and quack grass are more persistent and more difficult to control than the cultivated weeds. Farmers began raising noxious weeds in their cornfields in Wisconsin when they began raising corn but it is only recently that they began raising cultivated weeds of their own planting. They plant cultivated weeds in their cornfields in the hope that they can cheat nature and get two bumper crops from the same field at the same time.

The noxious weeds got their greatest start in cornfields on each farm after the silo was built and farmers were advised by specialists to drill their corn instead of check-rowing it as was their custom and is now the custom of growers in the corn belt. They were told that if they would drill their corn they would get a greater quantity of stalks and leaves and these were what they need to fill their silos. They were not told but they have found out since from experience that a cornstalk with a two or three glazed ears on it makes better silage than a stalk with no ears on it. They were not told that if they drilled their corn thickly or even thinly they could get no ripe ears, as they would not be able to work the cornfield both ways, and the weeds would get the start of the corn and rob the corn of a large part of the plant food and moisture in the soil needed by the corn.

Corn growers now explain their inability to raise big yields of ripened corn and the frost catching the crop to the corn growing season becoming shorter year after year, and overlook rows of weeds a foot or more wide and from two to four feet tall bordering each row of drilled corn at their silo filling time. They also overlooked the fact besides drilling their corn and being forced afterwards to let the weeds grow they planted some other crop of cultivated weeds in their rows of corn, and that these weeds cultivated and noxious make it impossible for the corn to fill and ripen and to produce big yields of corn for either the silo or cornucopia.

Soybeans that save the dairy-farm from exchanging a large part of his milk check for commercial dairy feeds and are considered weeds when planted in a cornfield, lost to a large extent when cut with corn at silo-filling, should have a special field in which to grow and thrive by themselves. The soybeans may be planted solid or in rows 15 or 20 inches apart. The beans may be cut

DRYING STEPS ON DRYERS WHO FORCE PLEDGE ON YOUTH

Parliament on Record Against "Secret" Prohibition Campaign

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
Paris — The practice of inducing children of tender age to sign pledges and take oaths never to drink alcoholic beverages has caused much indignation throughout France and has put parliament on record against this "secret and sinister prohibition campaign."

It is longer will children be presented with such pledges in their classrooms. Teachers who try to turn a child's mind against drinking will be dismissed and textbooks warning against drink will be suppressed.

CITE CASE OF AMERICA
During a heated debate in the Chamber of Deputies the "pitiful example of prohibition America" was cited as a warning against "false education" on the values and uses of wine.

Propaganda against drinking, with its appeal to children in French schools similar to those American children were almost forced to sign during the prohibition days, has been denounced by the Ligue Anti-Alcool, a French equivalent of the Anti-Alcohol League.

The result has been consternation amounting almost to hysteria in the wine-producing districts. An protest by the thousands, addressed to members of the Chamber of Deputies came to a climax when the subject for the reduction of taxes on wine was discussed. The Chamber, sidetracked by unanimous consent to give hearing to Edouard Carlier, Socialist deputy from the wine-producing department of the Herault, explained an explanation of prohibition in schools from the Marraud, minister of education.

"You may count on me to put a stop to this campaign," Marraud declared. "I have already assured the Chamber, explaining that he also came from a wine-growing country."

DEFENDS WINE INDUSTRY
Any attempt to inculcate hostility to the glorious wines of France is more than deplorable and I, as a member and representative of the wine industry, disavow that this is our aim. I shall take steps immediately to have the school manuals which such heretical doctrine has allowed to creep or to have the teachers amend them in such a way as to restore to wine drinking its proper character in the eyes of the children.

Wine should be one of our national glories in the eyes of our children," he declared in a voice that was heard in all sides.

He has been charged that the methanol of the American W. C. T. U. has been used to insert in the text warnings against the drinking of wine.

There are over 1,500,000 wine growers in France and their syndical organizations charged that the prohibitionists were being made a hub of agitation against wine cultivation and drinking. M. Rathe, who presided over the cause in the Chamber of Deputies, pointed out that wine growing was one of the world's greatest producing industries.

OBJECT TO POSTERS
The said that schoolmasters permitting the placing of large posters about classrooms reading: "Alcoholism is the ruin of the individual" and others citing for example the case of "great dry drunkards" preponderance in the of sport. He referred to a text called "The Natural Sciences," which is widely used and in which the following passages appear:

"Wine being already dangerous it is easy to imagine how much more so distilled liquors through a large proportion of alcohol." "The grape in one centigram does fill a large dog."

M. Barthie quoted Pasteur: "Wine is the most healthy and hygienic of beverages."

Following Barthie appeared Jean Jarry, member of Parliament and a minister, whose family name is known to the world over for the bottles, bearing various stars, which are the degrees of excellence in the Hennessy estates have been.

GOT IT AS A BABY
Henry IV, greatest of all the monarchs of France, was born on the day of his birth subsequently in his nursing bottle.

When the attack was made, one of the charges that being pledges of children of eight or nine old contributed to such wide misunderstanding of the use of wine in the United States, a misunderstanding which has prohibited the use of wines there.

$5,000,000 Sweeps New Hampshire Town

This aerial picture shows towers of flames and smoke sweeping over Nashua, N. H., when a section of the city was laid in ruins by a fire which did $5,000,000 damage, rendered 1,000 persons homeless and destroyed five factories and other buildings. Nashua was virtually placed under martial law, when 250 national guardsmen patrolled the streets, with orders to "shoot to kill" looters. Fourteen hours after the first blaze, wind-scattered embers from the smoldering ruins kindled a new blaze.

Post-Crescent's Idea Contest Is Drawing Into Third Week Before End

The day for the big trip to Washington is drawing nearer and nearer. Boys and girls who are to receive diplomas from Outagamie public and parochial schools are counting the days between now and June 11, when the big trip starts.

And just as this day is coming nearer and nearer is the Post-Crescent's On to Washington contest rapidly drawing to a close. Only three more weeks remain in which to win one of these half dollars, which are being distributed by the newspaper to those boys and girls who have the best plans for making money for their trip to the national capital.

The contest editor last week appealed to the boys and girls to help him bring the total number of letters to 2,000 before the contest ends. Today the mark passed 1,575. This means he wants to receive 425 more letters before May 23, when the last prize list will be published.

Let's get busy, you graduates. This isn't a hard contest. There still must be thousands of ways to earn money that haven't been mentioned in this contest. See if you can't think of some more of them and then write to the contest editor, and tell him about them.

Remember, if the idea is original, clever and practical, you will receive a half dollar from the Post-Crescent to be added to your graduation fund.

Here is a way to put that fund a little nearer to the goal—that necessary $25. Sit down now and see if you can't think of an original way to make money—then write a letter to the contest editor and tell him about it.

BLINDNESS DOESN'T HANDICAP SCULPTOR

Paris (AP) — Georges Seignin, a blind sculptor of Paris, has become a sculptor, superior to many students who can see.

He has developed his sense of touch to such a delicate point that it largely replaces the use of eyes. "The ear is a little low," and "pull it off," "I'll fix it up again," come over here little chap," are the instructions to the young man who assists him in his work.

Stricken with blindness at the age of 21, in 1915, Seignin never had attempted any sculpture until 1925. "Just to bring a ray of sunlight to my darkest night," he said.

The first work undertaken was a bust of his wife and friends, noting the keen resemblance, advised him to carry on his experiments.

NEW SAFETY BELTS

London — To protect them at night while they are walking along rural highways, pedestrians have introduced a new safety belt. The belt consists of a series of red reflectors attached to it, and when the lights of an oncoming automobile flash on to these reflectors, the motorist driving knows there is a pedestrian in his path and proceeds with caution. The reflectors can be seen for 20 yards.

GRAND CANYON PARTS PAIR—DIVORCE FOLLOWS

Los Angeles — (AP) — The Grand canyon has come between Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Dodge.

"During the four years of our married life preceding his visit to Arizona," Mrs. Dodge told the court here yesterday, "my husband, who is a photographer, said I was his inspiration and showed me great affection. After viewing the Grand canyon he said it was much more inspiring and left me."

The court granted her a divorce.

The first patent for cement making issued in the United States was acquired by the state of New York by purchase from Canvas White, whose experiments starting in 1815 gave rise to the industry in America.

King Visits Nurse Who Helped Him Back To Health

BY MILTON BRONNER
London — Whitechapel, in London's crowded East Side, the other day had striking proof of the fact that King George V of England does not forget.

For, although he has not yet completely recovered in strength, he made the long journey down there from Buckingham Palace to pay a visit to 40-year-old Catherine Black, a member of the nursing staff of London Hospital, who has been quite ill and now is convalescent.

The whole thing was done very quietly. A big car drove up without any escort of any kind. An elderly man in a big overcoat and a sweet-faced woman dressed in a brown tunic trimmed with gold and a long brown coat, got out and started for the hospital. It is no unusual sight to see elderly couples visit the hospital.

But the wise East Siders at once knew this was no usual visit, because the new Lord Kintore, chairman of the hospital and the hospital staff, looking low, while several "Bobbies" stood stiffly at attention. The East Siders took another look.

"Why it's the King!"

"And the Queen!"

Inside, a pale-faced woman, waiting in a special room, showed by her surprise and joy and pride that she knew who the visitor was to be. The man she had nursed back from death's door was now coming in his turn to cheer her on to health. It's the kind of simple, human thing the royal family is always doing, and which has endeared them to the people.

Sixteen months ago King George lay in Buckingham Palace almost at death's door with pneumonia and other complications. It was recognized that it was a case not only for great doctors and specialists, but very largely also for careful nursing. The thoughts of Queen Mary at once turned to Nurse Black, a capable woman who had served as Staff Nurse and Sister in the Queen Alexandra Imperial Military Nursing Service for the whole duration of the World War.

CITY TO APPEAL IN LLOYD ESTATE CASE

Menominee Protests Ruling
Allowing Heirs to Take $167,952 from Funds

Menominee, Mich. — (AP) — The city of Menominee today planned an appeal from a probate court decision which allowed heirs of the Marshall Lumps Lloyd estate to remove $167,952 from estate funds. City Attorney T. P. Doyle said.

Probate Judge John Stiles yesterday ordered that amount from the Lloyd estate turned over to heirs on the basis it was earned income and they were entitled to it.

Lloyd, millionaire baby carriage manufacturer who established the city's largest industry, left the principal of his estate intact, to be turned over to Menominee upon the death of the heirs for purposes of building a huge free clinic. When originally probated, the estate stood at $1,617,000. The heirs were allowed only the income, according to his will.

In an action started several weeks ago, the heirs insisted they had not obtained all income from the estate and demanded an accounting from the Menominee Trust company and Mrs. Hilda Lloyd Merrill, Milwaukee, co-executrix of the estate. They asked for approximately $260,000 unpaid income.

The city replied there had been no income due to slumping values of the principal.

BREW DISTURBS COPS

Gary, Ind. — All was well in the detective bureau until a booming third, not unlike a bomb, awoke several officers. Hands to their holsters, they made the rounds of the office to see what caused the blast. Captain Frank Roach opened a closet door and brought forth the cause—a broken home-brew bottle, still dripping, which had exploded because of the heat.

FARM COMMISSIONER IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

Washington — (AP) — Charles L. Hill, Wisconsin commissioner of agriculture and markets, was here today in interests of radio and cheese.

He conferred with officials of the United States department of agriculture in an effort to have the making of label of U. S. fancy cheese changed to include the words "Wisconsin's aged."

Commissioner Hill also conferred with members of the federal radio commission concerning the proposed consolidation of radio stations WHA of the University of Wisconsin and WBL of Stevens Point. Present plans call for establishment of the consolidated station at Hancock, Wis.

Professor Michelson Now Also Ranks As Composer

Chicago — (AP) — Prof. Albert A. Michelson, who measures the speed of light, understands the Einstein theory, paints with skill and handles a violin with ability, has added musical composition to his accomplishments.

"Grandpa's Lullaby" is the name of the composition. It was composed some years ago but never set down, and its existence became known by accident last week. Dr. Michelson and Ernest T. Gundlach, head of a Chicago advertising firm, had been taking turns at the piano. Dr. Michelson observed:

"I once wrote a piece of music." He played it, and Gundlach set it down on paper.

It is three-four tempo. In the key of C Major and is no longer than a single sheet of music paper. At the top is written the title, "Grandpa's Lullaby," and the composer is given as "Albert Michelson." Because his name is written the date and the information that it is "Opus 354," which apparently is a concoct of Gundlach's in setting it down.

Next week the work of erecting new apparatus for the measurement of light by Dr. Michelson will start at San Bernardino, Calif. At the age of 78 the scientist not only hopes to improve upon the accuracy of his light speed measurement, but he also finds time for his numerous hobbies, including bridge, chess and billiards. Since his serious illness of last year Dr. Michelson has been compelled to give up tennis. At present, his friends say, he is in unusually good health.

Concerning "Grandpa's Lullaby," Dr. Michelson had little to say.

"It's really nothing," he said. "I composed it several years ago for a lullaby for the daughter of a friend."

LONDON ART TREASURES FADE, EXPERTS ASSERT

London — (AP) — Controversy has been aroused in London art circles by certain West End art dealers who assert that the $20,000,000 worth of Turner water colors in the Tate gallery are being allowed to fade just off recognition.

The gallery, which has 20,000 Turner paintings, watercolors and drawings, boasts that the watercolors are fading, while experts declare that the gallery is blinded by its wealth of Turners into not realizing that one day it may have none.

Sir John Innes has pointed out that light in any intensity is fatal to watercolors.

"These Turners are bound to fade," he said. "I have always regarded watercolor as an irritating medium because you cannot guarantee that it will last. Light is fatal to it."

LONG TIME TO WAIT

Vienna — The hotel of Mme. Jodan, operating prima donna, surely has patients. She promptly and the opera star for last week, during a heated argument it was disclosed that the hotel claimed more than $12,000 that she had never received as her fixed wages during ten years of serving Mme. Jodan. An agreement was arrived at with a payment of $2,000.

PHOTOGRAPHS THOUGHT

Chicago — Edmund Jacobson, at Chicago University, can now measure the muscular reaction of a thought-wave by means of electrical energy expended in the action. Thoughts, according to Dr. Jacobson, reduce themselves in final analysis to nerve and muscle reactions, which are measurable. The energy involved in projecting a thought is so slight that it would take about 2,000 persons thinking together to exert enough energy to light a single electric lamp.

CONGRESSMEN OF WISCONSIN SPLIT ON TARIFF VOTE

Varying Opinions Are Voiced in Every Ballot Last Week

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—The Wisconsin congressional delegation split on every vote on the tariff last week, when they had their first opportunity to vote on individual items in the tariff bill.

Except in the case of the export debenture for exported farm products, the "progressives" split among themselves and on occasion the two "stalwarts" split. All the "progressives" who were voting cast their votes in favor of taking from the President the power to raise or lower rates upon recommendation of the Tariff commission and returning this power to Congress, and even Rep. William H. Stafford of Milwaukee, most conservative of the lot, voted with the "progressives" and "stalwarts" on this measure.

The roll call votes on the tariff last week were on lumber, sugar, duty free cement for public works, the export debenture, and the flexible tariff.

On the flexible tariff to keep on the free list all cement imported for use by federal state, county, municipal, or other public works, the Wisconsin roll call was as follows:

For: Bleas amendment, Edeard E. Browne of Waupaca; Henry Allen Cooper of Racine; James A. Frear of Hudson; Merin Hull of Black River Falls; Charles A. Kadang of Watertown; John M. Nelson of Madison.

Against: Bleas amendment, John C. Schafer of Milwaukee.

Not voting: Florian Lampert of Oshkosh (Absent).

On the proposal to put a duty of 75 cents a thousand feet on lumber, with imports from Canada free of duty as long as Canada permits free entry of American lumber of similar sort, the roll call was as follows:

For duty: Schafer.

Against duty: Browne, Cooper, Hull, Kadang, Lampert, Nelson, Peavey, Schneider, and Stafford.

Not voting: Frear.

Not a Wisconsin congressman voted for a duty on shingles, although all but Rep. Hull had voted for the bill passed by the House providing a duty on shingles. Not even Rep. Schafer, who in every other case voted with Ways and Means committee, could stand for the duty on shingles. Rep. Frear, a member of the Ways and Means committee, evaded a vote because he did not feel very keenly about it and hated to vote against the committee of which he is a member.

On Cuban raw sugar, the House rate was 2 1/2 cents a pound, the present duty 1 7/8, and the Senate rate 2 cents, while the Ways and Means committee proposed a compromise of 2 1/2 cents a pound. The only roll call was on the Senate's 2-cent duty, as this was adopted on roll call, although it had been defeated on a standing vote. Many members stood to vote for the compromise just to be "regular" and support the Ways and Means committee, but refused to be recorded as voting for a duty on sugar higher than 2 cents a pound.

The Wisconsin roll call follows:

For 2-cent rate: Browne, Frear, Hull, Kadang, Lampert, Nelson, Peavey, Stafford.

Against 2-cent rate (that is, for compromise rate of 2 1/2 cents): Cooper, Schafer, Schneider.

On the proposal to give to farmers 99 per cent of the import duty on the products they export, through the export debenture, the Wisconsin roll call was:

For debenture: Browne, Cooper, Frear, Hull, Kadang, Lampert, Nelson, Peavey, Schneider.

Against debenture: Schafer and Stafford.

On the proposal to take from the President the power to raise or lower tariff duties under the flexible tariff provision, and return this

900 BOYS WOULD GO TO TRAINING CAMPS

Milwaukee—(AP)—More than 900 Wisconsin youths have applied to be admitted to the Citizens Military Training Camps this summer, according to the Military Training Camps Association headquarters here. This represents 75 per cent of the quota of 1200 for Wisconsin. If applications come in at this rate for the next several weeks, Wisconsin's quota will be filled by May 25 after which all applicants will be placed on the list of alternates. In some counties the quota already is over 100 per cent and additional names are being placed on file, and which may not reach its quota. When the state quota has been attained, recruitment will be ordered stopped by the war department.

power to Congress, the Wisconsin roll call was:

For leaving power with the President: Schafer.

For returning power to Congress: Browne, Cooper, Hull, Kadang, Lampert, Peavey, Schneider, Stafford.

Not voting: Frear, Nelson.

Wisconsin was not alone, however, in being split on these votes. Even the Maine delegation, which consists of only four very regular and conservative Republicans, one of them a candidate for the Senate, split on every vote except the debenture and the flexible tariff.

In fact, on only these two issues could "regularity" really be defined for it was clear that the President would veto the bill if the debenture should be included, and it was probable that he would veto it if his tariff-making powers should be taken away from him. At any rate, it was clear that he wanted to retain his power to lower and increase tariff duties.

The reason that this was the first time the congressmen had an opportunity to vote on individual items in the bill is that when the House had the bill before it last May, it operated under a rule whereby no amendments could be offered from the floor and the members had to vote for the bill as a whole or against the entire bill.

Rep. Frear has frequently denounced this as a "gag rule".

The bill now goes back to the Senate for further action on disagreed items.

44 ECONOMISTS IN STATE OPPOSED TO TARIFF MEASURE

Four Instructors at Lawrence Among Those Signing Statement

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent

Washington—Forty-four Wisconsin economists are among 1,028 members of the American Economic association signing a statement opposing the passage of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

The statement was presented to President Hoover, with the request that he veto the bill if it comes to him from congress, and to Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, chairman of the Senate Finance committee and to Rep. Willis Hawley of Oregon, chairman of the House of Representatives Committee on Ways and Means, using defeat of the bill by congress.

Of the 44 Wisconsin signers, 23 are in Lawrence college at Appleton, 4 in Lawrence college at Beloit, 6 in Marquette university at Milwaukee.

and the other 3 are listed without identification or address.

Lawrence college signers are: R. H. Lounsbury, W. A. McConacha, M. M. Bober, and M. M. Evans.

These economists oppose the bill on the grounds that it will increase the cost of living, "compelling the consumer to subsidize waste and inefficiency in industry"; that few people "could hope to gain"; that "the vast majority of farmers, also, would lose"; that export trade would suffer, that higher tariffs would inject bitterness into international relations.

The statement also denies that the higher rates would decrease employment, as claimed by its sponsors.
